Japs Invade Australian Isles

OFFICIAL NEWS

Melbourne, Australia

Jan. 23 (AP)

Sea-borne Japanese troops have invaded Australian territory, landing presumably under cover of naval guns and carrier-based aircraft on New Guinea and in the northern-most Solomon islands 2500 miles from Tokyo, it was announced officially today.

On the mainland of Australia, now within close bomber range of the Japanese landings, blackouts were ordered in all cities, militia manned the beaches, a million gas masks were ordered from Britain, and observance of Australia Day, Jan. 26, was cancelled under emergency regulations.

TELLS OF LANDING

Deputy Prime Minister Francis Forde announced the only confirmed landing in the Elsmark Archipelago east of New Guinea was at Keta, principal city on Bougainville at the northern end of the Solomon island chain.

Keta is 250 miles southeast of Rabaul, capital of New Britain where radio communications with Australia were broken yesterday when 11 Japanese ships were seen offshore.

A later message, however, indicated the ships—five troop transports, three cruisers and other escort vessels—had not entered Rabaul harbor up to 7 a. m. today. The ships first were sighted 45 miles offshore 18 hours earlier.

Jap aerial activity was reported throughout the morning along the northeast coast of New Guinea. Bulolo reported planes overhead at JAPS ON FOUR FRONTS—As Netherland East Indies bombing planes scored direct hits on eight Japanese warships and transports in the straits of Macassar (1), Tokyo invasion forces landed on New Guinea and the Solomon islands, possibly capturing Rabaul (2), and pressing to within 100 miles of the Australian mainland. Meanwhile, Japanese troops are pushing forward to capture Manila bay (3) at any cost as British, Australian and Indian forces are throwing their full and desperate weight against Japanese armies driving at Singapore (4).

Japan's all-out offensive in Luzon has been repulsed with "heavy losses" to the enemy in brilliant operations which have won the American-Philippine forces of Gen. Douglas MacArthur the personal praise of Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, supreme commander of armies of the united nations in the Far East.

Jan. 23 (AP)

British, Australian and Indian soldiers who have checked the main Japanese army for three days threw their full and desperate weight today into a tremendous counter-offensive which blazed some 50 miles across the state of Johore.

Artillery crashed on the eastern Malay coast; forward troops were fighting the Japanese in the center, and in western Malaya, which held the greatest threat to Singapore, the Australians and British were locked in close quarter fighting with the Japanese.

The British command communiqué acknowledged there were indications the Japanese were filtering into the coastal regions in the Batu Pahat area, 60 miles northwest of Singapore, but the main action was being fought out around Bukit Payong, a hill area some nine miles north of Batu Pahat.

This announcement was made in today's War Department communiqué.

The department said the legions of Lieut.-Gen. Masaharu Homma had kept up attacks "without regard to casualties" for 24 hours, but with no success.

Gen. MacArthur's defense lines, although withstanding the onslaught, faced an adversary able to replace their losses, it was pointed out. The War Department asserted the Japanese forces have been strongly reinforced.

PRAISE FROM WAVELL

Military experts believed reinforcements were drawn from troops which were reported to have landed in the Lingayen gulf and Subic bay regions.

Gen. MacArthur reported he had received a message from Gen. Wavell "warmly congratulating him and his command for their magnificent defense of the Philippines."

While the Japs continued their exhaustive efforts to smash the defense line in Balan, other enemy troops occupying the island of Mindanao have organized a local military force in the city of Davao, on the southeast of the island. The War Department said the Japanese unit is composed of "some 10,000 Japanese residents of that community."

The attack on the Batan positions, the largest yet launched by the Japanese is being executed by what military experts described as an army of nearly 200,000 men.

The War Department asserted the enemy apparently "has adopted

British troops, faced with superior Japanese forces, are being withdrawn from the mountain areas east of Moulmein, Burma, it was announced today as the Japanese moved to within 26 miles of the Gulf of Martaban port.

Fighting with the Japanese are Thai (Siamese) troops.

The British were said to be moving their forces back to points where transport and communications were better.

Moulmein, the latest objective of troops driving westward from Thailand, was raided by Jap fliers yesterday. Seven civilians were killed.

The port of Burma panchand is about 60 miles from the nearest point of the Thai border and is 170 miles north of Tavoy, which the Japanese captured early this week.

Although advancing on Moulmein, the Japanese and Thais were said not to be exerting pressure.

By JOSEPH J. KOSAK

In one of the greatest aerial offensives of the Pacific war, Netherlands East Indies bombing and fighting planes today scored 12 direct hits on eight Japanese warships and transport vessels without suffering a single loss.

On the heels of Washington's announcement that huge reinforcements of heavy bombers are being "poured" by the United States into the theater of combat, a formidable Dutch war squadron roared out of its N. I. E. base to strike at the aggressor in the straits of Macassar, between Borneo and the island of Celebes.

The Dutch attack was an overwhelming success.

A brief communiqué describing the operation was obviously designed to prevent the enemy from reinforcing detachments already landed in the Dutch East Indies.

This communiqué listed the victims as follows:

HEAVY SHIPS BLASTED

One large warship, (which might be a battleship, a battle cruiser or an aircraft carrier).

One heavy cruiser.

One additional cruiser.

One large transport.

One destroyer.

Two large transport ships.

One smaller transport.

The unidentified "warship" was struck by a 750-pound bomb. Missiles of similar weight were dropped on the two cruisers and one large transport. Two hundred-pound bombs fell on the other ships.

All were officially chalked up as "direct hits," and it was regarded as a fair assumption that all the vessels were measurably damaged.

JAPS GET OWN MEDICINE

Thus the Dutch again met out to the Japs the type of punishment the Japs gave to the British battleship Prince of Wales and the battle cruiser Repulse.

Always guarded in their official announcements, the Dutch claimed no sinkings.

The straits of Macassar form the southern arm of the Celebes sea. The Jap ships probably were operating out of Mindanao in the Philippines.

The Jap air force, however, continued its own attacks. Sabang, on the island of Wal, five miles off the northern tip of Sumatra, was lightly bombed but an attempt to attack two ships failed, it was said.

One Japanese plane dropped incendiary bombs on the Gorontalo airport on the Minahasa peninsula of Celebes, causing little damage, while 27 enemy fighters attacked the airport at Palembang on Sumatra. Two persons were wounded.

A new Jap bombing attack was made yesterday on Belawan in Deli, northern Sumatra, causing slight material damage and wounding 16 persons.

Dutch planes, meanwhile, again bombed Kuching, the Jap-held capital of Sarawak, setting storage yards at the river mouth on fire.

12 Billion Warplane Bill Wins First O.K.

By GRIFFING BANCROFT

Washington, Jan. 23—Releasing a report that American volunteer airmen in Burma have bagged between 90 and 100 Japanese planes with the loss of only three of their own ships and men, the House Appropriations Committee today approved the record spending bill for all time—a measure providing $12,525,872,474 for new planes and equipment.

CARDINAL GIVES FUND $7000

With Greater Boston's United War Fund officially under way today after a rousing rally in Boston Garden, His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell gave great impetus to the drive with a contribution of $7000.

Other donations began rolling into fund headquarters and officials said no itemized list would be available immediately.

Their enthusiasm sparked by the one and only Mickey Rooney, 20,000 volunteer workers jammed the big auditorium and cheered predictions of Gov. Saltonstall and Mayor Tobin that the goal of $7,600,000 will be reached.

Maynard Hutchinson, campaign chairman, said this goal comprised the largest sum ever sought in any American community effort. Early reports indicate that gifts are far larger this year, he said.

An army of 30,000 workers started "invading" all parts of Greater Boston to accept the gifts, which will go to community charities, Red Cross and service organizations.

Approximately two-thirds of the volunteers met with hundreds of uniformed men and notables of city and state to give the drive an inspiring send-off at the rally.

OVATION FOR MICKEY
It was a one-man show. The grinning, bright-eyed lad known as Andy Hardy to millions did his stuff with electrifying energy. The impact of his personality was felt immediately throughout the vast meeting place.

MICKEY ROONEY Steals War Fund Show

The tremendous appropriation bill calls for immediate construction of 33,000 planes, of which 23,000 will be powerful combat types, complete with bombs, guns and all equipment.

Of the fund—largest single military appropriation in the history of Congress — $7,144,056,340 would go for complete planes. Another $1,547,948,529 is slated for armament, aircraft cannon, small arms ammunition and bombs. Spare parts come to $7,900,000,000, facilities to build planes $93,000,000, and a billion for Signal Corps and chemical warfare.

BLASTS SENATE CLAIM

Rushing the measure to the floor, where speedy passage was expected, the committee made public testimony by Lieut.-Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air Corps, disclosing the information about volunteer airmen and urging passage of the funds so this nation can "build toward our offensive knockout blow."

Vigorously denying a report by the Senate defense investigating committee terming 75 per cent of American planes inferior to European types, Gen. Arnold said the United States is now getting quantity and quality of planes, and "we are equal to any nation and ahead of a lot of them."

Taking the Army's 0-40 series, which were especially criticized in the report, Gen. Arnold proudly related these accomplishments of the little pursuit ships:

"Since Dec. 7 (date of Japan's sneak attack on Pearl Harbor) American volunteer airmen, many using P-40's, have bagged from 90 to 100 Japanese planes, and this was done with the loss of only three planes and three men."

BALTIMORE, Jan. 23 (AP)—A man and two women, either shot or stabbed, were found dead in a roadside ditch near Catonsville, Baltimore suburb, today.

Discovery of the bodies was reported to Catonsville police by Harry Souers who said he came upon them on his way to work.

The women were identified as Mrs. Helen Johnson, 21, and her sister, Mrs. Irene Carter, 32. The man was not identified.

Leonard Johnson of Albion, Md., husband of Mrs. Johnson, made the identification, police said. Dr. George S. Kieffer said the man had a bullet wound in the chest. Mrs. Johnson was shot through the head and her sister was stabbed in the left breast and slashed about the throat.

Magnificent Lady Carole Lombard's Amazing Life Story

By CHARLES T. BURNS

The long-awaited and eagerly expected "happy climax" to Hollywood's No. 1 courtship came one fine March morning in 1939 in a sleepy little sun-swept Arizona hamlet.

Carole, bubbling over with keen anticipation of the fulfillment of her dreams, rode beside Clark Gable in his cream-colored roadster to Kingman, Ariz. They scorned the stereotyped Hollywood formula for elopements... last minute plane trip to Yuma or Las Vegas... breathless return flight... pained surprise at the great coterie of press agents who "discovered" the "secret" plan.

This perfectly matched couple really wanted to be married without fanfare, and they went to great pains to do it. They slipped in and out of Kingman so quietly that only a handful of the residents knew they were there. It was done so secretly none of the usually fluid pens of Hollywood could even describe what the blonde beauty wore on the great occasion.

CLARK GABLE AND CAROLE LOMBARD
On Their Wedding Day

AVOIDED NIGHT SPOTS

The "third party" on the romantic trip was Carole's trusted friend and confidante, Otto Winkler, officially listed as her publicity agent. Carole said he was along "just in case the reporters upset the dope and find out."

Ironically, it was three years, almost to the month, that the Carole Lombard-Clark Gable romance ended. Ended tragically, suddenly and brutally in Arizona, the same state where their happy married life so gaily began.

The tomboy spirit of Hollywood's No. 1 glamour girl really came to the fore during the gay, reckless days with Gable. Even more than during their courtship the couple avoided the film colony's glittering parties and night spots.

They withdrew to Clark's modest farmhouse on a 17-acre ranch deep in San Fernando Valley, and except for such trips to town as were absolutely necessary, they kept to themselves.

Ducks, chickens, turkeys, dogs, horses, cats, condition of crops, prospects for a hunting trip... these were the interests of the highly-publicized glamour pair as they settled down "in the sticks." Supremely happy, they wanted nothing but each other's company and they got it, except for the rare occasions when Clark or Carole were away on location.

NO PRIMA DONNA

At the studio, however, Carole went merrily about her work, playing jokes, put-putting around the lot on her motor scooter with the same high-spirited, unrestrained air she had carried all through her fabulous career.

Carole would hardly have been taken for the highest-salaried actress in the business. Her carefree manner belied the startling fact she received $150,000 for each picture or that she chose her own stories and directors, ordered script changes and okayed the cast.

LOVED FARM LIFE

She wasn't being a prima donna. Producers knew she was acting in the best interests of the picture and they respected her judgment. Carole never took her work home with her. After a day of gags and laughs at the studio she hurried back to San Fernando and

WOMEN LED FROM FIRE IN BACK BAY

Theodore Englehart was in a bad spot today when thick smoke rolled through a building in Massachusetts ave., Back Bay, from a fire in the basement of the Price Brothers provision store. Englehart was in the bathtub.

Before things became too bad, however, he was able to don some clothes, but because smoke then had cut off his escape he was taken down a ladder from the third floor by firemen.

Occupants of four other apartments above the store in the four-story brick building were led through the smoke to safety, but several suffered from smoke inhalation. Capt. William J. Magner of Engine 33 being overcome three times, but sticking to his post.

Mrs. Florence Russell, 49, an infantile paralysis victim, was led down stairs by firemen and her daughter, Marion. Then she was taken to Back Bay police station to rest.

Mrs. Carrie Krogman, who has just recovered from an attack of pneumonia, was assisted from the second floor by her son, Harold, to the home of a neighbor.

Two firemen aided Mrs. Barbara Ann Harriman and her sister, Mrs. C. J. Locatelli to safety from the top floor, but William Shackett made his own exit from the second floor and carried an armful of clothing.

The fire, starting apparently from hot ashes, caused $5000 damage.

ARGENTINA IN COUNTER PLAN FOR AXIS BREAK

By JOHN P. MCKNIGHT

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 23 (AP)—Argentina's foreign minister, Dr. Enrique Ruiz Guinazu, held a half-hour conference today with the heads of the Brazilian and United States delegations to the Pan-American conference, and it was learned on good authority he had submitted an Argentine counter-proposal for a rupture of relations with the Axis nations.

The counter-proposal, these sources said, had been drafted by Ramon S. Castillo, acting president of Argentina. The Argentine yesterday balked at the present wording of the conference's anti-Axis resolution.

PROVISIONS UNDISCLOSED

Ruiz Guinazu first talked with Oswaldo Aranha, Brazil's foreign minister. They were joined by United States Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles. The conference leaders were expected to meet immediately to consider the Argentine proposal, the provisions of which were not disclosed.

After over repeated delays, a group of small nations—Honduras, Cuba, the Dominican Republic and Uruguay—talked today of drafting a "quit stalling" ultimatum to force action on the anti-Axis resolution which has tied up the conference of Pan-American foreign ministers.

ARGENTINE BACKS WATER

Some conference circles forecast that Mexico, Colombia and Venezuela—the three nations which introduced the original anti-Axis resolution last week—might lead a bloc of smaller countries in an attempt to force the fight onto the floor of the full political committee meeting.

Once again it was Argentina who backed water after accepting Wednesday night a compromise resolution stating that the American's could not continue diplomatic relations with the Axis in view of the aggression against the United States.

REMEMBER PEARL HARBOR?

More So. American Students at Harvard

The result of the conference at Rio De Janeiro should be complete hemispheric solidarity, if foreign student registration figures at Harvard mean anything.

Compared with 10 years, the Pan-American trend is quite marked. The Harvard Alumni Bulletin said today. A total of 28 students from 16 Central and South American countries are now at Harvard. A decade ago seven Spanish American nations sent only 19 students to the university.

Halligan, 26, his wife Gertrude, also 26, and their 11-year-old daughter, Joan, who clutched her pet cat, fled from the house. Also forced to flee were Mrs. Ada Gillan, 35, James McKown, 21, his wife, Margaret, 19, John Anness, 17, and Mrs. Margaret Gionton, 60.

Defense Opens Final Plea for Mrs. Barber

His motion for a directed verdict of not guilty denied, Defense Counsel Francis Juggins today began his final argument to the jury as the trial of Mrs. Hazel Barber for the slaying of Max (Kid) Hessel resumed in Suffolk criminal court.

At court opening, Juggins asked for a directed verdict of not guilty of murder in the first degree, murder in the second degree, and manslaughter, but his motion was turned down by Chief Justice John F. Higgins.

Attired again in the same black hat and dress that she wore yesterday, Mrs. Barber seemed today to have regained the composure she lost yesterday in relating how she had shot Hessel at a "last kiss" rendezvous outside his Egremont rd., Brighton, home.

For nearly three hours she described her life and love affair with Hessel under direct examination by Atty. Francis Juggins, breaking down twice and once requiring a five-minute recess. Returning to the witness stand, she was cross examined by Asst. Dist. Atty. Garrett H. Byrne for nearly an hour but stuck to her story.

SHOT HIM TWICE

She said she shot Hessel twice, "bang, bang, like that" when "he came at me like he was going to beat me." She said she shot him "to save myself bodily harm" and that he refused her a farewell kiss.

Testifying that she had provided herself with the gun in order to commit suicide, Mrs. Barber said, "I wanted to use the gun on myself. I didn't know I hit him."

Under cross-examination she said that after the second shot Hessel "backed back," and then fell in front of the Egremont rd. apartment house where he lived.

INTENDED SUICIDE

"I stood there with the gun in my hand," she said. "I didn't put it back in my bag when I entered the car."

The witness said she drove around in a daze for some time, then went home and put up the car and later went on foot to Lincoln rd., Brighton, where she hid the gun "where I could go back for it later," for the purpose of taking her own life.

Burglar Beats Woman, Loots Medford Home

After wrecking and looting the apartment of Joseph G. Perkins, government leather inspector, in Pearl st., Medford, a burglar gave Mrs. Perkins a terrific beating early today, ripped her clothing to pieces and escaped, his pockets full of valuables.

Mrs. Perkins entered the apartment alone shortly after midnight, her husband being out of town. As she flashed on the lights, she discovered the intruder rifling her dining room. From his pocket dangled a gold watch chain which she recognized as her father's.

Mrs. Perkins screamed and tried to grasp the chain. In the battle which followed, the burglar beat and kicked Mrs. Perkins, tearing her clothes and seizing her handbag.

"Keep your mouth shut or I'll carry you off with me!" he threatened.

Neighbors called police and officers found Mrs. Perkins severely injured and in a state of collapse.

All articles of value in the apartment were gone, including Mrs. Perkins' jewelry and possessions of her father, Eugene T. Lyons, Medford fireman, who made his home with her but was on duty at the time of the robbery.

PRICE CONTROL COMPROMISES MAY BOOST FOOD COSTS 15 P. C.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—An amendment-patched wartime price control measure which some sponsors said "may prove more unpopular than new taxes" was ready for final congressional action today after weary Senate-House conferees had agreed on its terms last night.

Rep. Steagall (D.) of Alabama, who teamed with two Democratic colleagues to break the conference deadlock, predicted that the House would accept the bill because "there were compromises on both sides."

Senate approval likewise was foreseen by Senators Brown (D.) of Michigan and Bankhead (D.) of Alabama.

FORESEES FOOD COSTS JUMP

Brown, who said the measure might prove even less popular than taxes, estimated that food costs might rise as much as 11 to 15 per cent under the compromise measure because of restrictions placed on farm price ceilings.

"Even so, I think this is a good workable bill," he said. "It has the mechanics for halting inflation and uncontrolled price rises."

Bankhead, who sponsored the amendment to give the Secretary of Agriculture a virtual veto power over price ceilings of farm products, was jubilant over conference acceptance of this provision. President Roosevelt openly opposed the restriction.

SETS PRICE STANDARDS

The compromise set prices during the period Oct. 1 to 15 of last year as standards for the price ceilings with the exception of farm prices. In this field the price administrator could not fix ceilings or order reductions below the highest of these: Average farm prices on Oct. 1 or Dec. 15 of last year, average farm prices for the period 1919-29, or 110 per cent of parity prices determined by the Department of Agriculture. Eliminated from the compromise version was Sen. O'Mahoney's (D.) of Wyoming amendment which would have tied farm parity prices to industrial wage levels. President Roosevelt protested that such a move would compel inflation.

The revised bill included a Senate provision for licensing business affected by price maximums—a stipulation previously rejected by the House—and broad powers for the government to buy and sell commodities in order to stabilize price levels.

The compromise also included authority to fix rent maximums in "defense housing areas" defined as places where the war and defense efforts threaten to increase rents over the levels of or about April 1, 1941.

DAYS OF LUXURY OVER, WAR PROGRAM SHOWS

By DAMON RUNYON, JR.

International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Jan. 23—"Our plush days are over."

Thus the government today bluntly told the American people the price they must pay to construct history's greatest arsenal, under direction of War Production Chief Donald M. Nelson, to defeat the Axis powers.

The war program, given Nelson by the Office of Rationing and Figures, forecast an ultimate army of 7,000,000 men, the employment of 20,000,000 workers in war industries, and an all-out effort requiring 50,000,000 man-years of labor.

The government literally told Nelson and the American people that the job "can and will be done."

"We are no longer the care free land of plenty," the OFF reported, "every counter heaped with chromium-coated gadgets, every store bursting with limitless supplies of shoes and scaling wags."

"Total war requires so many materials that there is just not enough to go around."

TOY TRAINS OUT

As Nelson buckled to the task of using American industry to create the greatest war machine in all history, the OFF declared "the production of much needed ammunition requires copper that formerly went into ash trays, weather-stripped windows or toy trains."

"We need the ammunition," the report added, "We can do without the toy trains."

The OFF's report coined a phrase—"First things first"—to describe the major task facing the new War Production Board—to see that all essential materials and tools are thrown into the defense effort before any thought is given to the least luxury at home.

"War," the government declared, "means a tightening of the consumer's belt."

The OFF report, issued under the direction of Archibald MacLish, librarian of Congress, contained the following highlight: With $50,000,000 from lend-lease, the Army Air Corps ferrying command already has delivered more than 1000 planes.

ARMY OF 7,000,000

With the new draft law, the United States will be able to recruit an army estimated at 7,000,000 men.

Plane production of the United States and Britain soon will exceed the Axis output.

Total war will require Americans to do without many things—but not food.

Nearly $1,000,000,000 worth of new munitions plants now are in full operation.

Ships are being launched by the Maritime Commission at the rate of one a day, and launching will reach two a day in six months.

Five million workers already are employed in war production, and the figure will total 20,000,000 in 1943. More than 500,000 women now are employed in war work, and before the end of the war, one-third of the aircraft workers may be women. A woman's "land army" may be recruited to cope with the shortage of farm labor.

Mystery Writer Ends Own Life

YUMA, Ariz., Jan. 23 (AP)—The words "In Here," scrawled on the top of a sealed packing box led Sheriff T. H. Newman to the body of Gavin Grey, 40-year-old recluse whose detective stories thrilled many pulp magazine readers.

Newman said the case was obviously a suicide and that Grey, who lived in the Kofa mountains, about 75 miles to the north, had been dead since October.

Grey had fashioned his own death chamber from the rough box, equipped with inside fasteners, Newman reported. Officers had to use hammers and heavy bars to reach the body.

DR. W. D. CUTTER DEAD

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., Jan. 23 (AP)—Dr. William Dick Cutter, 63, educator and secretary of the council on medical education and hospitals of the American Medical Ass'n since 1931, died here last night.

This prompt Listerine gargle may help Mother Nature to head off a cold before it gets serious. Drafts, like wet feet and fatigue, may weaken body resistance. So, at the first sign of trouble, use Listerine Antiseptic early and often, meanwhile consulting your doctor.

New Excise Taxes Fall Below Estimate

By IRVING PERLMETER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—Disappointing collections on the new federal excises enacted a few months ago foreshadowed difficulties for Congress and the Treasury today in their search for $7,000,000,000 more taxes asked by President Roosevelt.

Officials said that the new excises are bringing in far less revenue than expected.

Unless the showing improves, Congress will have to raise its sights in drawing this year's tax bill, to make up the amount that collections fell short of the estimated revenue.

Taxes which went into effect last Oct. 1 include those on local telephone bills, jewelry, furs, toilet preparations, musical instruments and electrical appliances.

PAID MONTH RATE

Two of the new taxes have held up to expectations. The licenses for bowling alleys and pool tables, expected to yield $1,300,000, already have turned in $1,203,816 in three months. The licenses on slot machines and pinball machines have yielded $4,708,696 and were slated to bring in only $4,600,000. These two taxes are collected only once a year, while the others are to be collected each month.

On 14 other taxes, collections in October, November and December amounted to $27,150,000, against an estimate of $272,400,000 in a full year.

Part of this discrepancy was explained as due to the fact that these taxes are paid a month late and since October was the first month, the collections represent really a two-months rather than a three-months record.

In a few cases, shortage of materials, such as rubber, held back production and sales. In other cases, seasonal factors detracted from the showing. Another official explanation was that people stocked up on things in September to beat the tax.

OFFICIAL FIGURES

On the other hand, the collections represented a pre-Christmas period when buying was heavy.

Here are the official figures:

	Actual Revenue	Predicted Revenue
Jewelry	$2,480,579	$28,700,000
Furs	4,034,122	28,700,000

3 BROOKLINE POLICE OFFER BLOOD TO BURNED YOUTHS

Three Brookline police officers stood ready today to serve as blood donors in case Peter Bent Brigham Hospital doctors order transfusions for two youths who were critically burned when their gasoline-soaked clothing caught fire.

The fire occurred in the basement playroom of the home of Roger DiPesa, 17, of Reservoir rd., Brookline, where he and George Murphy, 18, of Egmont rd., Brighton, tossed some oil-soaked cardboard into a fireplace after using it as a funnel to pour gasoline into a car outside the house. An explosion resulted and flames shot through the room, enveloping both boys. Ping pong balls and other playroom equipment flared up and the youths suffered severe face and body burns trying to put out the blaze.

Patrolmen Thomas Ferguson, Joseph Cavanaugh and Richard Lally of Brookline accompanied the boys to the hospital and volunteered to give their blood.

STATE OPENS INQUEST INTO LYNN FIRE

With close to 70 witnesses called, State Fire Marshal Stephen C. Garrity today opened an inquest, behind closed doors, into the tragic Melvin Hall apartments fire at Lynn which took 13 lives.

The fire marshal said he expected his report would not be available for four or five days.

The inquest opened in the recreation hall at Lynn fire headquarters in Broad st., near the location of the holocaust of early Tuesday morning.

Marshal Garrity, after the large number of witnesses had been sworn in, instructed about half of the men remain and said the others could go, some to return during the afternoon and some tomorrow morning.

The first witness called was Mrs. Diane Matthews, 47, released Wednesday from Lynn Hospital after treatment for cuts suffered when she broke through a skylight.

Several others of the lesser injured were brought from the hospital to the inquest by members of the Red Cross Ambulance Corps.

The inquest served as a reunion for many of the apartment house dwellers who had not seen each other since the fire, and groups were huddled in various corners of fire headquarters, swapping experiences. Most of them said they are now living temporarily with relatives.

Piggy, Here's Your Chance to Hog Glory From Jap Swine

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 23 (AP)—American pigs got their call to the colors today. It came from a convention of painting contractors.

The home-bred razorback was besought, in the interest of patriotism, to develop at least a respectable bristle, something that could be used in the present pinch, for paint brushes.

Ernie Morck of San Francisco stated the situation:

“The paint brush industry in the United States has been dependent on the five-inch bristles that hogs readily produce in Japan and China.”

So, Morck suggested, the painter has no recourse but to appeal to the native razorback:

“In the name of patriotism to do in emergency what Japanese hogs do as routine.”

Walsh Bill Hits At War Profits

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (INS)—Sen. Walsh (D.) of Massachusetts, chairman of the Senate naval affairs committee, said today he would ask his committee to approve legislation designed to curb excessive war profits and prevent creation of more “war millionaires.”

“We’re going to get going on a bill right away,” Walsh said. “If I had my way, there would be a limit of 6 or 7 per cent on the profits of munitions makers, shipbuilders and airplane manufacturers.”

10 GUARD RECLUSE'S HOME PENDING CASH HUNT Truck Drivers Warn U. S. May Take Over

While funeral arrangements were being made for Miss Edith Travis, 80-year-old recluse found dead in her spacious Brighton home, Atty. Daniel H. Coakley, Jr., today was ordered to take charge of the woman's estate, believed to amount to thousands of dollars.

Coakley was appointed public administrator by Suffolk Probate Court. Capt. William D. Donovan of Brighton police, at the attorney's request, placed the 10-room colonial house in Chestnut Hill ave. under guard because large sums of money were thought to be cached there.

Police also sought Miss Travis' brother, Charles, Travis of Miami, Fla., who was reported to have received $250,000 several years ago from his mother's estate. Miss Travis, former Boston school teacher, also shared in the estate, according to reports at the time. A sister of the eccentric recluse, Mrs. Emma Rose of Chocorua, N. H., was located and she said she would soon arrive in Brighton to confer with Coakley.

SERBIAN PATRIOTS REBEL

BERN, Switzerland, Jan. 23 (AP)—A Havas dispatch from Sofia, Bulgaria, today reported violent engagements in the past few days at Balna Ratcha and Valievo, Serbia, between troops of Premier Gen. Milan Nedich's Nazi-established government and Serbian patriot troops.

Amid warnings by union leaders that they may ask the federal government to take over the motor carrier industry in this district for the duration of the war, fresh attempts were made today to iron out a dispute between truck drivers and their employers.

Hundreds of trucks on the principal state highways stopped at intervals for "a rest" and the general slowdown in deliveries of food and merchandise was seen as a protest against unsuccessful negotiations for a new union contract. "There is no strike," declared

Nicholas P. Morrissey, business agent of Teamsters Union, No. 25, Boston and president of the State Federation of Labor.

"We have been negotiating with employers since November, 1941, and are now convinced that the employers are acting in bad faith, endeavoring to circumvent legitimate and normal collective bargaining."

Morrissey said his union had suggested to the Employers Group of Motor Freight Carriers that their differences be submitted to the National Defense Mediation Board, now the War Labor Board. This was denied by Ralph Cahouet, general counsel for the truck operators' group, who said the union had never suggested arbitration and the matter was not before the War Labor Board.

Another bone of contention was whether the "slow down" had affected transportation of defense materials. Morrissey said "we are determined that all war materials will be transported and delivered on schedule." Said Cahouet, "Defense materials are being tied up."

Morrissey added the warning: "The attitude of employers has compelled us to communicate with the War Board and urge that the board intervene and if the profiteering motor operators continue their discrimination against our members, we shall request that the United States government take over the motor carrier industry in this vicinity for the duration."

ST. LAWRENCE PROJECT CUT IN NEW BILL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP).—Congressional leaders were reported today to be drafting substitute legislation for the pending $1,000,000,000 omnibus rivers and harbors bill, eliminating many items bodily and cutting out the navigational features of the proposed St. Lawrence river power and seaway project.

Prospective elimination of the proposed $197,000,000 Florida ship canal, the $66,000,000 Tennessee-Tombigbee waterway and other such extensive projects was expected to trim total authorizations under $400,000,000 in the substitute bill.

Leaders made it plain after conferences with President Roosevelt earlier in the week that they felt it useless to attempt to win congressional approval of the entire billion dollar measure in the face of the stupendous military outlays urged by the President.

For this reason they were said to have agreed to restrict the compromise measure largely to hydro-electric power projects needed for the war effort and to the improvement of strategically important harbors.

The prospect of an industrial power shortage which might hinder the military production program, pointed out recently by Chairman Leland Olds of the Federal Power Commission, was said to have contributed to the decision to seek speedy action on the hydro-electric project.

Tire Law Bans Bus Excursions

Problems of food delivery and transportation of workers will be discussed at a national meeting of rationing administrators in Chicago tomorrow, which will be attended by Thomas M. Joyce, Massachusetts administrator, and former Gov. Ely, state rationing board chairman.

Buses of the Boston Elevated and other transportation companies may not be used for excursion purposes, warned former Mayor Frederick W. Mansfield, Boston rationing board head.

Quotas of tires and tubes for February will be sharply reduced, Joyce disclosed. Figures will be available tomorrow.

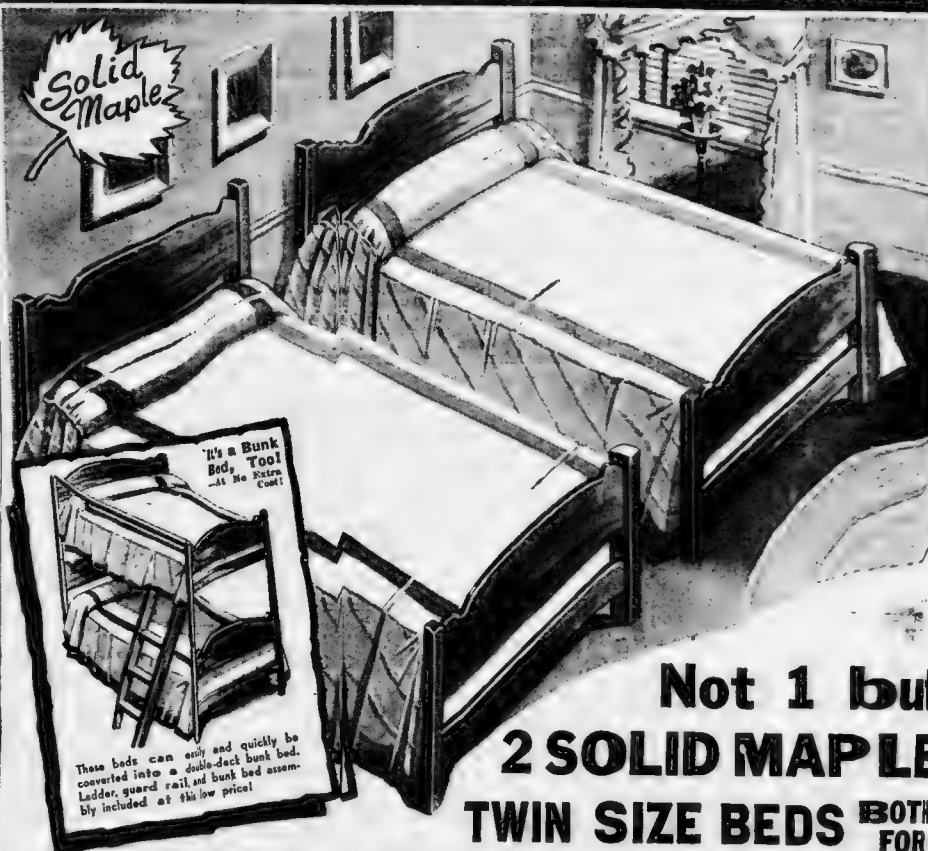

Joyce stressed that motorists who wish to appeal the decisions of local rationing boards need not engage legal counsel in appearing before the state board. Attorneys soliciting such business should be reported to the state bar association, he said.

Torpedoed Ship Crew Dumped Tons of Sugar

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (AP)—The 35-man crew of the American freighter Brazos, sunk Jan. 13 after a collision with an unidentified vessel in submarine-infested Atlantic coastal waters, spent five hours trying to jettison the cargo before taking to the lifeboats.

Survivors reaching here yesterday coincident with a navy announcement that the 4497-ton ship had been sunk and the entire crew saved said they abandoned ship only after casting tons of sugar into the sea.

The Brazos, 43-year-old veteran of the New York-Charleston-Galveston trade, was under lease to the New York-Puerto Rico Steamship Co. by the Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies lines, and was the ninth American or Allied vessel to be sunk or damaged by torpedo or accident off the Atlantic coast in the last 10 days.

The crew, headed by Capt.

Charles L. Stone of Staten Island, N. Y., was rescued by another vessel which the Navy did not identify and landed at Charleston, S. C. Francisco R. Members of the crew included Manuel Medeiros, 33, 726 North Main st., Mansfield, Mass., and Quincy Dick Slocum, 26, 37 Cottage st., Brockton, Mass. The crash occurred 150 miles

Airliners Fly Women And Children Out Of Japs' Clutches

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 23 (INS)—Australian authorities announced today 1100 women and children were flown out of Rabaul when the New Britain Island capital was evacuated prior to the Japanese attack.

During the evacuation, it was stated, commercial air lines—carrying more than double the usual number of passengers—rushed women and children to places of safety.

The last journeys were made after Japanese bombers had been over Rabaul for an hour.

PRESS MAGIC BRINGS DICKIE'S MAMA HOME

Other kiddies can have their Aladdin's Lamp . . . it is enough for three-year-old Dickie Hartford of Fourth st., South Boston, that the Record-American turn over its presses and send a magic stream of newspapers into the city streets.

Dickie isn't quite sure how it all came about, but today he had his "Mommy," Mrs. Frances J. Hartford home again and that was enough for him.

Monday night his mother, a 20-year-old waitress in a West End cafe, dropped out of sight and Dickie was inconsolable with grief.

He couldn't eat or sleep and all the efforts of his grandmother, Mrs. Catherine Gelzini could not lighten the burden on his childish heart.

In desperation, Mrs. Gelzini turned to the Record-American and in short order pictures of the little fellow and his missing mother were turned out, edition by edition.

One paper reached his mother and the sight of her little boy's picture cleared the cloud of uncertainty through which she had been wandering, unsure of her identity or her travels since Monday.

Today "Mommy" is back home, and the world once more looks bright as it should to a three-year-old youngster, who will never believe Aladdin and his magic lamp was any great shakes.

Bus Lines Now Ask 10 P.C. Fare Boost

CHICAGO, Jan. 23 (AP)—The nation's bus lines want a 10 per cent increase in passenger fares, too.

Chairman L. C. Markel of the National Bus Traffic Ass'n, which he said represents 95 per cent of bus traffic, announced operators' proposals were similar to those approved for the railroads. The ICC Wednesday authorized railroads to raise fares, and Markel said the bus lines hoped to make their increases effective simultaneously.

Rommel Forces Recapture Town

CAIRO, Jan. 23 (AP)—Gen. Erwin Rommel's mechanized desert army, apparently making a desperate new bid for Axis reconquest of eastern Libya, has recaptured Agadabia in a thrust 90 miles northeast of El Agheila, where the Axis forces made their stand, the British announced officially today. Indicating strong aerial reinforcements had bolstered Rommel's counter-attack, the British headquarters war bulletin said the Axis advance was "strongly covered by German and Italian bomber aircraft with fighter protection."

The communique, which said the Axis forward movement was continuing, declared that "light covering forces of Britain's eighth army" had withdrawn to positions east of Agadabia.

Methuen Missionary Held Captive by Japs

METHUEN, Jan. 23—Friends of Miss Bessie A. Hollows, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hollows of this city, anxiously awaited further word from her today, after receiving reports that she was held captive by Japanese in Wuhu, China.

According to the Methodist Church Board of Missions in New York, she was one of nine missionaries who with Bishop Ralph A. Ward, head of the Methodist Church in China, taken prisoner at the start of the war.

Dr. Chester B. Rappe, superintendent in Chungking, called that Bishop Ward had advised him that he and the missionaries were confined to the Wuhu General Hospital compound.

Miss Hollows was last in the public eye in 1937, when she was trapped in Shanghai by the fighting between Chinese and Japanese forces. She escaped uninjured.

As central treasure for the Methodist Episcopal Church for China, Miss Hollows, who studied at Boston University, later wrote her parents a graphic description of the bombing of the city.

Ten years earlier her life had also been endangered by fighting between Chinese and Japanese.

In February of 1928, Miss Hollows began a year's furlough and traveled in Egypt with her parents who joined her in England.

In a police headquarters lineup today, 19-year-old William A. Ryan of Main st., Charlestown, admitted he was the hit-and-run driver of a stolen beach wagon that critically injured a 10-year-old boy on Jan. 13.

The victim, Francis O'Brien of Iligh st., Charlestown, is at City Hospital with a broken pelvis, fractured skull and broken ribs.

Ryan said he stole the beach wagon in Canal st. and was showing his 14-year-old cousin how to "pull the loop" in Charlestown when he ran over O'Brien.

Ryan and his cousin leaped from the machine, which struck a house.

14 Nelson's Board Snips Sweaters, Swim Suits

By LEE CARSON

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (INS)—The situation on the sweater and bathing suit front looked bright for the boys today as the new, cut-everything war production board began unravelling several inches off the top and bottom of Hollywood's favorite institutions.

Lana Turner and Miss Sweater Girl of '41, Margaret Landry, get all the breaks in this round of conservation of materials vital to war and important to civilian morale.

As went the girdle and the brassiere so go the pull-tows and the one-piecers. Will Hayes' office on morals and censorship has been straight-armed by the chill realities of war. The sweater and the bathing suit of '42 will be subjected to severe curtailment in yardage.

The wool saved from sweaters will go on the backs of the boys in khaki.

Slogans such as "bare your ribs for bombers" and "an inch off the neckline saves two in the trenches" bubbled from the promoters' fertile minds.

The board bent an especially severe eye on the baggy, shapeless pull-overs dear to the hearts of college girls. The voluminous chin-to-knees woolies traditionally the mark of the girl undergoing higher education are out for the duration.

During World War I, Barney Baruch's conservators did wonders in forever freeing Milady from binding bundles of material known as bathing suits.

In World War II, sweaters, pants-and-brassiere combinations, and one-piece second skins, left the board with their hands tied on further reduction there but Donald Nelson's new board of war production has announced that the answer to the reduction of wool and rubber in bathing suits is now in sight.

America is going to see a lot more of the beach beauties. By judicial cunning use of open work and laddery the swim suit shall live on and the national tradition of modesty still survive. The bathing suit and sweater girls will not be sacrificed to war.

Girdles Out in New Rubber Ban Order

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—Sorry, girls, but the War Production Board confirmed that bad news about girdles today.

After Feb. 1, an order declared, no more crude rubber or latex may be used in manufacturing girdles or other foundation garments, golf and tennis balls, erasers, bathing suits and caps, lawn and garden hose and hundreds of other common household items.

Extending already strict government control over the rubber industry, the board made public a long list of "essential" products which may be manufactured; established production quotas for each class of products, and directed that use of crude rubber for a wide variety of "essential" civilian goods be reduced about 75 per cent below recent annual consumption.

After Feb. 1, the order stipulated, all products not on the list may be manufactured only from reclaimed rubber, and reclaimed rubber, experts say, cannot be used satisfactorily for girdles.

Today's U. S. Communique

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—

The text of the Army communique, No. 71, based on reports received up to 9:30 a. m. (E.S.T.), follows:

11 — Philippine theater: The Japanese are continuing to launch heavy attacks on Gen. MacArthur's positions on the Bataan Peninsula. During the past 24 hours the fighting has been extremely heavy. The enemy's assault troops have been strongly reinforced. Nevertheless, all Japanese attacks have been repulsed with heavy losses. Apparently the enemy has adopted a policy of continuous assaults, without regard to casualties, hoping by great superiority in numbers to crush the defending forces.

Gen. MacArthur is in receipt of a message from Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell formally congratulating him and his command for their magnificent defense of the Philippines.

"Reports from Mindanao disclosed that the Japanese troops occupying Davao have organized a local military force composed of some 10,000 Japanese residents of that community.

"There is nothing to report from other areas."

REDS OUTSTRIP NAZIS IN AIR SUPERIORITY

By DEVON FRANCIS

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (Wide World)—Fresh evidence of the savage mauling which Russia has inflicted on the pride of the Nazi military in the last two months, and with it a clearing picture of the situation the United Nations will face in the spring, was made available today by usually well-informed sources here and abroad.

The Nazi air force, which was the world's strongest at the start of the war in September, 1939, has lost—one informant said—65 per cent of its first-line men and planes in the Russian campaign. That figure may be high, but definite Russian air superiority is now apparent.

Germans killed in Russia number about 1,700,000 so far. Another 2,000,000 have been wounded so seriously as to be incapacitated or out of action for a long time.

3,000,000 ON RESERVES

Russian reserves in Europe (excluding some which could be called from Asia), fully trained, number 3,000,000. Some of these gradually are being fed into the fighting. Five million more men are in training.

The Japanese have 500,000 men in Manchukuo ready to strike at a propitious time under the terms of the new Axis tripartite pact announced last Sunday. They are faced with a Russian Siberian army estimated at larger than 750,000.

In Russia the plight of the Axis, however, must not be considered desperate. The Germans are replenishing their fighting forces at the rate of about 600,000 men annually.

NAZIS STILL STRONG

Hitler remains strong in military manpower and in military machines. He has 200 and 250 divisions (from 3,000,000 to 3,750,000 men) strung out along the Russian front, including reserves of his Axis allies.

On the other hand, Russia only now appears to be drawing on her tremendous reserves of men and war equipment, the latter augmented by help from the United States and England.

Typical of the Russian surprises in the counter-offensive which began gaining momentum late in November was the appearance on the front of large numbers of a new-type, hard-striking dive bomber.

In Germany Goering is launching a production drive to increase airplane output from 2300 a month to 2750.

Back to the stage he leaped, and in a confidential tone he spoke into the microphone:

"Yeah, they're real. Yes, sir."

This time the applause was deafening.

Mickey showed why he is popular with audience when he entered into a series of impersonations of movie stars Clark Gable and Lionel Barrymore and from this went easily into a take-off of Clem McCarthy, announcer of boxing bouts and horse races.

But the high point of the evening was his imitations of Joe Louis and Johnny Paycheck,

PIANO OR DRUMS

A thousand tongues in his audience demanded more of Rooney. So he hopped to a piano and played a composition of his own. His apparently unlimited talent then turned its attention to the drums, and he rapped off a fast rhythm to the accompaniment of the orchestra.

Clarence Randall, vice-president of Inland Steel Co., the principal speaker of the evening, said the great audience represented democracy at work.

"I dare say this is the largest group of people ever gathered in the United States and the world to take up solely the question of relief and aid to those whom no one in this hall knows or sees," he stated.

STABBED IN THE BACK BY ARTHRITIS

Now is the time of the year when arthritis is on the loose stabbing victim after victim with its deadly dagger of pain. If you are one of those unfortunate souls, here is important information for you to know. Many people suffering from crippling arthritis make it hard, long, miserable and need some report that these pains may be eased, in some cases, by exercise while in the bath.

As a dietary aid to the better neutralization of these crippling acids, here is one way to bring splendid pain relief. Via-Dry Sedona Tablets are produced by a well-known food technologist. Via-Dry Sedona Tablets contain food alkalies and food value, two minerals of nutritional value which may prove to be helpful to many arthritis sufferers. WIFE'S FISTS ANSWER TO HIS PLEA FOR HARMONY TALK

Testimony that his wife attacked him with her fists and fingernails when he suggested they "sit down and talk over" her return home at 8:30 a. m. won marital freedom today for Ernest

R. Blanchard of Elm st., Stoneham. He was granted an uncontested divorce from Mrs. Pauline Blanchard by Judge Arthur E. Beane in Middlesex Probate Court. Charge-ing cruel and abusive treatment, he said his bride of three months met his suggestion they talk over her early morning return with the words: "If you say anything more to me I'll box you."

He said he continued talking and she beat him on the head with her fist, scratched him with her nails and refused to speak to him for a week thereafter.

18 Carole Yearned in Vain for Baby

Clark, thrusting from her mind the particular plot or picture being filmed.

"We never talk pictures at home, except maybe in a general way," Carole used to say. "For one thing, Pappy is the one person in the world who makes me self-conscious. So I don't talk."

The pair evidently had plenty to do around their ranch without talking about pictures. Carole, once pointed out as "Movieland's Dirty Dame," turned into a completely demure, dutiful farm wife. The glamorous actress was seen frequently whistling gaily as she painted fences, washed dishes, or milked one of the many cows. She loved the farm life and spent as much time as possible there.

REMAINED JOKE

She was not through with practical jokes, however. The studio workers still rocked with laughter over her pranks.

During a heat wave she ordered a 100-pound cake of ice delivered on her set and sat on it between calls. When she was working she turned it over to extras to "keep it warm" for her.

The beautiful girl who was known as a screwball comedienne deserted slapstick roles for a while to do heavy dramatic parts.

"I don't care what the part is

... if it's good and is a good story, that's all that counts," she said.

WANTED CHILDREN

Despite their apparently delirious happiness, Carole and Clark had one sorrow. It was a disappointment for which there was no remedy.

Carole wanted children, but Nature ruled otherwise. She consulted outstanding physicians in all parts of the country without success.

"I'd be damned glad to give up all this (the movies, prestige, glamour and riches) for a baby. I don't want to adopt one, I want one of my own," Carole told intimates.

ALWAYS TOGETHER

Overcoming this disappointment took longer than the others, but Carole eventually regaled her light, gay nature and smothered her sorrow in constant companionship with her husband.

They were always together and on the rare occasions when they were separated, each worried about the other. Carole was completely unruffled when anxious friends sent poses looking for her and Clark when they were "lost" for several hours on a hunting trip to Mexico.

"Nothing can go wrong when we're together," she assured them. "It's only when we're apart that you want to worry."

The inspiring Life Story of Carole Lombard will be concluded in tomorrow's Boston Evening American.

"GIVE-UNITED WAR FUND"

Legion Chief Brings New Defense Plans

Duties of Legionnaires under a new defense program drawn up in Washington will be explained to Massachusetts officials by National Commander Lynn U. Stambaugh, due in Boston today.

Commander Stambaugh, who comes directly from conferences with President Roosevelt and Defense Director James M. Landis, will be the guest of the Massachusetts department, A. L. at a Staller banquet tomorrow night. He will be the breakfast guest of Mayor Tobin tomorrow and at noon will be given a luncheon by Gov. Saltonstall.

GABLE'S SORROW OVER CAROLE ALARMS FRIENDS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 23 (AP)—Clark Gable, turned from a swashbuckling, care-free prankster into a depressed, grief-stricken reclusé by the tragic death of Carole Lombard, will seek solace in work.

The fun-loving screen star was so anguished by loss of his beautiful blonde wife that he wanted only to be alone. Shielded by studio executives, Gable has been so alone that friends became alarmed at his depressed brooding.

Gable hasn't yet gone to his Escondido ranch where he and Carole lived so fully and joyously. He's in seclusion at a friend's home. He has left it only twice since he brought Miss Lombard's body home Wednesday morning—to attend funeral services for her and her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth K. Peters, that afternoon, and services for his friend, and publicity man, Otto Winkler, yesterday.

WILL FINISH PICTURE

He was waiting at the nearby Burbank airport to greet Carole Friday night when he received word of the crash which killed her, Mrs. Peters, Winkler and 19 other persons near Las Vegas, Nev. He flew to Las Vegas, was dissuaded from joining in the search for the bodies—then went into seclusion.

Friends argued that he should plunge into work. Gable agreed to go ahead with the picture on which he had done one day's work—"Somewhere I'll Find You," but he didn't set the date.

HOW POWELL GRIEVED

Norma Shearer went into seclusion for a year after her producer husband, Irving Thalberg, died. She had threatened to retire.

Mary Astor was out of pictures several months after her husband, Director Kenneth Hawks, was killed in an airplane crash over the Pacific while filming a picture. William Powell interrupted a picture to seek solace on a yacht cruise after his fiancé, Jean Harlow, died in 1936. Five weeks later, he collapsed on the set. A physician said he was exhausted and overwrought from grief. Powell and the platinum blonde had been inseparable.

Turkey Bans Nazi Propaganda Sheet

F.D.'s New Labor Plan Favored Over Lewis'

By HAROLD SLATER

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (INS)—The long expected showdown between President Roosevelt and John L. Lewis appeared imminent today with the definite issue drawn over the manner in which organized labor harmony will be achieved for duration of the war.

Indicating distrust of the motives of the United Mine Workers' leader who urged a belated resumption of peace negotiations between the AFL and the CIO, Mr. Roosevelt has made a counter proposal which seemingly is favored by other key labor leaders.

Formal White House letters now are before William Green, president of the AFL and Philip Murray, president of the CIO, suggesting that each labor organization appoint three members to an over-all committee to consult with Mr. Roosevelt on all matters concerning labor's participation in the war effort.

PRESIDENT AS ARBITER

This committee would function with the President himself as arbitrer in settling any controversy between rival labor factions.

Boding ill for the Lewis proposal that peace negotiations be resumed between the two labor organizations, William Green and George Meany, president and secretary-treasurer respectively of the AFL, orally accepted Mr. Roosevelt's counter plan at an unscheduled White House conference yesterday.

Similarly, on Wednesday, the President conferred secretly with Murray, who is at odds with Lewis on the proposal to resume unification negotiations, and assured the CIO head of full White House support.

F. D. WONT COMMENT

At his press conference today President Roosevelt refused to comment on any angles of the labor situation, refused to say whether or not he had conferences with Green, Meany and Murray, telling reporters that their would be no news on that subject.

Murray must face a meeting of the CIO executive council in New York tomorrow before he can give final assent to the President's plan. Overnight, however, Murray's position was strengthened when the powerful automobile workers voted to back him in any stand.

Mr. Roosevelt, Green and Murray are all represented as viewing with high suspicion Lewis' sudden decision that the AFL and the CIO might be brought together after seven years of friction.

All three men were said to fear that should peace negotiations be resumed the internal struggle for leadership would become so intense that war production might be retarded as a result.

JAPS' LOSS OF 90 PLANES SPURS BIG U. S. AIR WAR FUND

Messerschmitt 105F's, and lost only one plane even though they attacked a superior hostile force.

On the Russian front, four P-40's—presumably flown by Russians—shot down eight Messerschmitts.

Once, outnumbered eight to one against the Germans, pilots in O-40's shot down 60 per cent of the enemy squadron.

The planes have operated in steaming North Africa and in frigid Russia when some other planes were grounded.

Arnold quoted the British as saying the P-40-D (Kitty-Hawk) pursuit was superior to all the other Royal Air Force planes in the Middle East.

U. S. HEROES' FLEET

"During the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7," Arnold continued, "Lieut. Taylor and Lieut. Welch, both flying airplanes similar to the British Tomahawk, attacked a formation of Japanese planes and each shot down two planes."

"A short time later, Lieut. Welch engaged two Japanese planes and shot down both of them. Other airplanes of the same type engaged in victorious battle with the Japanese on that day. Every time they went up in combat, they acquitted themselves in excellent manner."

The Air Corps official confessed that the Germans still are building high type planes and showing no signs yet of lack of materials, but Brig. Gen. O. P. Echols, assistant for Air Corps procurement, said: "We are up to the Germans, and I think in certain respects ahead of them. I think the new pursuit planes the general refers to are the best in the world, and I think in our heavy bombers we are way ahead of them."

WANTS 33,000 PLANES

While careful not to disclose numbers planned of various types, Gen. Arnold said that in obtaining the 23,000 fighters and 10,000 trainers contemplated in the present bill, concentration will be upon heavy bombers.

The general confessed that even this huge sum, on top of previous appropriations, will not quite come up to the President's goal of 60,000 planes this year and 125,000 next.

"But it will come close and we will have the rest of the program pretty soon," he declared.

Stressing the necessity for "a continuous flow of aircraft," Arnold told the committee "consideration was being given to placing the entire air industry on a 24-hour-day 7-day-week basis."

Lieut.-Gen. William S. Knudsen warned that the present program will require 50 per cent of the total manufacturing capacity of the United States, but he declared that "it will be done."

TRAINING MANY FLIERS

Other officials testified that the pilot-training program and air field development are keeping pace with plane construction, while the committee was assured that most new building facilities will be erected inland away from vulnerable coastal points.

Gen. Arnold said:

"Since Japan's attack we are not only accelerating the attainment of our original state of preparedness, but we are also conducting combat operations and must concurrently build toward our offensive knockout blow."

"Our enemies, with their clear aggressive policies, have the jump on us by having selected their own time for war and their own objectives for attack. By virtue of their national policies, they have long ago laid and pursued their plans for aggressive war. Now we, by decisive action, must counteract the time advantage of the enemy."

ADVERTISER

They'll Help—Stewardess Lorraine Fournier of American Airlines, an automobile owner, realizes she will not be able to replace her present car with a new one, so she goes to E. S. Conway, maintenance foreman for the airlines, to learn what will make her auto last longer. He explains just that in this series . . . and we hope they'll help you, too.

OUR DAILY CITATION:

Posthumously, to Seaman Philip J. Darch, former Watertown High School junior, reported killed in the attack on Pearl Harbor. In his last letter to his parents, Philip expressed the hope that "this war would get under way so we can get it over with and go home." Loss of so loyal and brave a young man makes Japanese treachery seem worse, more despicable.

WHAT ARE YOU DOING?

Uncle Sam has a right to know what YOU are doing in this desperate war.

Are YOU with the colors now, or ready to join the colors if that is where you belong?

If your place is on the home front, where the war must be won first, are YOU doing your part?

One thing you can certainly do—you can help to provide the money—and the weapons—that will win the war.

You can invest frequently and liberally in Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps.

Are YOU doing this?

IN A hurried, last-minute effort to obtain money for Old Age Assistance last year, the Massachusetts Legislature imposed a tax on meals eaten in restaurants, hotels, clubs and drug stores.

This unique method of raising revenue did not appeal to many Senators and Representatives.

Several had visions of angered constituents saying: "You are taxing everything, including the food that goes into our mouths."

So the sponsors obligingly agreed to exempt from the assessment all meals that cost less than a dollar.

The compromise succeeded and the revised bill was passed, since both time and tempers were short.

Now the fun, or lack of it, is beginning. Everybody is confused. Some people are paying the tax. A great many are not paying.

If a man takes his wife to a restaurant and orders two meals, each costing sixty cents, he pays a tax on $1.20.

But if he says to his wife: "You pay for your dinner and I'll pay for mine," and then instructs the waiter to issue separate checks, there is no tax.

If two women go to a hotel for dinner and each intends to pay her own check, they have to make their intention known to the person who serves them.

Otherwise, the waiter is apt to give them one check and, despite the fact that each woman ate a meal costing less than a dollar, a tax will be collected on the total.

"Dutch treats" may have originated in Holland, but it looks as if it remained for a muddled, Massachusetts law to make them more or less obligatory.

CIVILIANS MAY FLY to New York, Washington and other American cities quite as easily and conveniently as they have flown in the past.

War Department officials explain that assigning priorities of airline space to persons whose travel is necessary to the successful prosecution of the war effort will not interfere to any measurable extent with the travel of the general public.

Of course, everybody should be willing to co-operate with Uncle Sam in this period of war emergency. If an airplane reservation is required by a military or government officer, the civilian should willingly give it up.

But, in all probability, this will be seldom necessary.

On The Side

The noble adjective honourable
Long kept clean by man
Has often moved the curving
Lips that hide your guile, Japan.
But never false humility
Was cloaked in deed so vile
As when you bombed Pearl Harbor
Under the cover of your smile.
—W. H. D.

HOW OFTEN just a few little words reveal much. When Clark Gable said: "I don't want to go home to an empty house," it revealed how deeply he loved his wife and how happy they must have been together. Was Frederic Lawrence Knowles who wrote:

Joy is a partnership
Grief sweeps alone.
It takes two for a kiss
Only one for a sigh,
Twain by twain we marry
One by one we die.

PRISONERS: Some Japanese detained by the United States Government are housed in luxury class resort hotels. All Japanese interned here are given the best of treatment. Government explains this by stating it wishes to assure similar treatment for Americans detained in Japan. This may be a good idea. Take the Marines from Wake Island who are now prisoners of Japan. The treatment given these gallant fellows by the Japanese should be checked and double checked by the United States Government. We want those boys to have nothing but the best.

PLEASE NOTE: "It is only natural for a man to think of his secretary after a first marriage has failed," says Allison Bryan. "He has tested her loyalty in a hundred battles. She has fought shoulder to shoulder with him in many a campaign. He argues she will be equally loyal and admiring and partisan as a wife. Usually he is right." "Blueberries and watercress are both excellent energy food," states a dietitian. You can have my share of watercress, but I can go for blueberries in a large way, as in blueberry pie a la mode, blueberry shortcake, blueberry dumping, etc. Why don't they have blueberry ice cream?

ASIDES: When Greta Garbo was a dramatic actress I liked her better. She is not the type to act cute and coy. Her best picture was "Camille" . . . How about planting a replica of the Star Spangled Banner in your garden? To get the necessary red, white and blue you can plant red foliaged coelebs, dusty miller and ageratum . . . On too many farms they have to fill out and on too many other occasions women are required to give their exact ages. In many cases merely stating they are "over 21" would be sufficient. Driving licenses for example.

OPINIONS, ETC.: "Golf" and tennis are young men's games," states a contemporary. Ridiculous. Any game an elderly man can play is an old man's game. Golf, tennis, cricket, bowling and croquet are all in this class. Some young men's games are baseball, football, handball, soccer and hockey . . . Note a distinguished woman of business referred to as a "lady executive." Is this designation the correct one? In any event I know feminine dentists get very angry when referred to as "lady dentists" . . . "Do you take a cold shower every morning?" asks an Albany, N. Y., subscriber. I take a warm shower every morning and finish it off with a dash of cold water. I used to take a cold shower every morning but a medico told me it wasn't such a good thing to do.

My favorite card game is still pinochle . . . Tony Ludescher, Manhattan restaurant manager, claims he can call over 80,000 customers by name. It is Mr. Ludescher's establishment which employs only red-haired waitresses . . . "Three-tenths of women's good looks are due to nature; seven-tenths to dress." So claimed Sarah Bernhardt.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Asks Bellamy Brooks: "Is there any index to the Japanese character in their teeth being too big for their mouths? They are always biting off more than they can chew" . . . Seventy-five per cent of the rubber normally used in the United States goes into highway transportation . . . A "How to Get a Husband" expert says one of the best ways for a girl to get a high grade matrimonial partner is to work as a waitress in a restaurant patronized by successful men . . . The average price paid for horses for Army use is $161. Two hundred and fifty dollars is the average price paid for the horses used by the New York mounted police.

SAYS SHE: "You once quoted Mr. Winchell as referring to the 'chorus girls, poor kids' and observed as this indicated the ladies of the ensemble were well defended, you thought you would take up the cause of the housewives, poor kids," writes a young matron of Baltimore. "And so what? Now you are continually deploring the lot of the maids, poor kids." Make up your mind, Eddie. Which side are you on? Don't you know that the housewives, poor kids have to pamper the maids. It is the maid that must be pleased. Many of said maids give me a pain in the neck because they seem to feel they are debasing themselves by doing housework. You say why don't housewives treat maids as men do their secretaries. Why, the average maid would consider that brutality. You have to treat a housemaid like a maiden aunt you expect to leave you a million dollars."

GOOD TIMING AIDS
ROBERT TAYLOR

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Jan. 23—My favorite playwright, Bill Shakespeare, once remarked and wrote:

*"There is a tide in the affairs of men,
Which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune;
Omitted, all the voyage of their life
Is bound in shallows and in miseries."*

Or, as Moss Hart, a more current author, might put it: Timing is what counts. In the theater or in a ball game or in big business or in anybody's career, timing is vital. Ethel Barrymore needs it, acrobats need it, the Rockettes need it, the stage manager at "Sons O' Fun" needs it. And so do you.

Old newspaper clippings show best how timing works. Gertrude Ederle swam the English channel when we were a restless and extravagant people, vastly amused by the daring of a stout muscular girl who covered herself with axle grease and stroked her way through the frigid waves of the channel, followed by a small, bobbing boat containing her luncheon. It didn't prove anything except that some people can swim the English Channel, but it was well-timed. The myraid channel swimmers who followed "Trudie" got only aching muscles and small newspaper paragraphs mentioning that someone had done it "again."

ELEANOR HOLM

GOOD TIMING and poor timing are always being illustrated in the careers of screen actors. Eddie Norris, Ann Sheridan's first husband, looked like very hot celluloid material when he first crossed the camera's path—tall, dark, well built, handsome, and a fair actor.

But before Eddie could get up to bat another young man answering to the same description—tall, dark, handsome, and a fair actor—got to first base. Robert Taylor, his name was, and he swept the country like prairie fire, and anything like him that came afterwards couldn't be seen for his smoke. It was just a question of timing.

ONE OF THE WORST bits of timing in the sports world occurred not on the playing field but in a press conference when Bill Terry, managing the then first-place Giants, asked his historic question: "Is Brooklyn still in the league?" The incensed Dodgers replied by knocking Bill's team smack out of the pennant and Bill himself off the top ten in any popularity vote.

Eleanor Holm picked a bad time to drink champagne, but aside from that her timing was usually nifty. . . . Joe Louis timed his giant contribution to the Navy perfectly. Had he given his purse after any other of his two-score fights, it would have been a fine gesture and a feather in the cap of the boxing world, of course—but coming after Pearl Harbor this gift from a great fighter was more than a lot of money; it was a symbol of the nation's unity.

Well, Joe was always good at timing. Ask any of his opponents.

SONG WRITERS ARE ALERT to the value of timing. That's why today we have more than 150 Pearl Harbor, Keep 'Em Flying, Off to Yokohama war songs, good, bad and awful. But not one has clicked the way a song did in World War I—George M. Cohan's perfectly timed "Over There."

Song writers will turn out a tune at the drop of a headline, and one of the greatest examples of this ability occurred when Enrico Caruso, the great tenor, died, and Jack Mills' firm came out two days later with "They Needed a Songbird in Heaven, So God Took Caruso Away." It may have been execrable taste—but it sold a million copies.

The Andrews Sisters climbed to the top of an almost insurmountable heap of girl trios with their recording of a trick number—"Bei Mir Bist Du Schoen." No trick lyric had so caught the public fancy since "Yes, We Have No Bananas"—but the Andrews Sisters got it by a piece of lucky timing. Their manager, Lou Levy, dropped into a recording studio just when a search was on for a girl group to record the number.

A GOOD MYSTERY FARCE, "Mr. and Mrs. North," got the welcome nod from the critics and was purchased by Hollywood for Gracie Allen, but its run was unspectacular and comparatively brief because of poor timing. It opened within a few days of a sensational murder mystery farce, "Arsenic and Old Lace," and it faded in the light of "Arsenic's" too-near glory.

BOSTON after DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

WITH PROMINENT BOSTON research doctors pioneering its use, an ointment brought north from the Seminole Indian country by Paul Curley, son of the former Governor, has had such sensational results in treating wounds and burns that the U. S. Army is about to okay it. . . . Among the medicos who have spel development and tests of the concoction is Dr. Harry Aldrich, whose dye treatment for burns displaced the old-fashioned and inefficient tannic acid treatment. . . . The ointment has a romantic background. . . . Young Curley came across an old Indian who had local fame as a medicine man, while being guided through the Everglades section.

HE BECAME INTERESTED in one preparation used by the Indian. . . . It was compounded from shark's liver. . . . Paul was moved by a humanitarian rather than a commercial spirit when he provided funds for the Redman to come north. . . . As a matter-of-fact, commercial possibilities of any great cure are limited. . . . But the Governor's son has incorporated a manufactory for the stuff, and it is being packaged for distribution. . . . Tests, however, have been exhaustive, and more than a score of Eastern hospitals have treated patients with the Indian ointment.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Dave Bender, Pat O'Brien's manager, came to Boston with the intention of looking up the only old friend he knew in the town. . . . Dave is a former vaudevillian, and he met this friend 15 years ago when he (Dave) was playing the Old Howard, and the friend was a young cop pounding a Scolley Square beat. . . . The long arm of coincidence was working Wednesday night and the special officers assigned to see that Pat and his party were not torn apart by autograph hunters at the Boston Garden were Special Officers Paul Crowley and Jim Tobin, who work together. . . . Well, the young cop who once walked the Scolley Square beat was Crowley.

O'BRIEN'S FIRST DAY at the Met was close to a record. . . . If the visiting star's schedule makes it possible, he will pay a call tonight to the annual Carney Hospital alumnae ball at the Copley Plaza, as will Lou Holtz. . . . Michael T. (Mitch) Kelleher's friends are singing his praises for the work he accomplished in lining-up last night's great show at the Garden for the United War Relief $7,000,000 Fund. . . . Kelleher is the Cambridge insurance man who leads the Clover Club.

THE OUTSTANDING SURPRISE of the now-historic bachelor dinner to Emery Stratton, the golfer, at the Latin Quarter the other night was an announcement by Frank Craven, (himself one of the best golfers in the state) of his impending marriage to Miss Mary Ryan. . . . Miss Ryan is secretary to Senator David L. Walsh, and the wedding will take place in Washington. . . . The bridegroom-to-be was what is technically known as a "confirmed bachelor." . . . Cookie Fay, the Boston girl who worked herself out of a chorus into (a) an university, and (b) a hit-comedy, is home again after touring with the Alan Dinehart show, "Separate Rooms." . . . But Dinehart has reserved a spot in his next Broadway attraction for Miss Fay.

SHOW GIRL COOKIE FAY
Home After Touring With Show

LOU HOLTZ IS TELLING his famous story about the Stubburn men. . . . One was so stubborn that he refused to show a dentist which tooth was aching. . . . Six years later, after the dentist had pulled all his teeth but one, the man was still holding out—and the tooth was still aching. . . . The stubborn fellow who topped the man with a tooth-ache was one who rang the doorbell of his girl's house one night. . . . When she sang out, "Who's there?" he refused to answer. . . . It was a freezing cold night, and the stubborn suitor came down with the chills, but he still wouldn't answer. . . . Thirty-one years later, in the hospital he was not answering yet. (It's even sillier the way Holtz tells it at the Mayfair.)

RITA HAYWORTH IN NEW STARRING ROLE

By Louella O. Parsons

Janet Blair

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 23—Appropriate that Rita Hayworth, who has won a record as the girl who has been on more magazine covers than any other actress in 1941, is to be starred in "Cover Girls of 1942." This is the first brain child of that bright boy, Bob Taplinger, since he joined Columbia, and believe you me, it's a some idea. With Rita will be twelve of America's most glamorous magazine cover models. These beauties will be submitted by such important publications as Cosmopolitan, Red Book, Saturday Evening Post, Photoplay, Ladies Home Journal and other magazines that go in for real life models.

I. HILLIARD

WHILE MANY posthumous pictures have not been financially successful, "Saratoga," Jean Harlow's last picture, which she made curiously enough with Clark Gable, cleared half a million. "Steamboat Bill," starring Will Rogers, released after his death, was also a money maker. Ernst Lubitsch, Jack Benny and Carole made this movie on a percentage basis.

"TILLIE THE TOILER" and "Blondie," two of the nation's most popular comic strip characters, will get themselves related by marriage today, thanks to a Hollywood romance. It was learned that Kay Harris, the pretty former Cincinnati stenographer who portrays the role of Tillie on the screen, will become the bride of Henry Freulich, the cinematographer who films the Blondie pictures.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Bruce McFarlane, who is in the "My Sister Eileen" show in New York, is a proud papa. His wife presented him with a daughter at Good Samaritan Hospital in Los Angeles; Darryl Zanuck has presented most of his thoroughbred polo ponies to the Army.

DOROTHY LAMOUR will go to Phoenix, Arizona, for a brief rest after the President's Birthday ball and her recent bond-selling tour in the East; "Let's be specific, to win in the Pacific—buy Defense Bonds," says Eddie Welch, 20th Century-Fox writer. If you have any ideas for slogans send them to this column and if we use them we will credit you.

U. S. Rule Seen Hub Port Blow

A storm of protest headed by civic and shipping officials loomed today following reports that the Port of Boston would lose much promised business under federal supervision to a competing port.

Protests are expected to come from Gov. Saltonstall, Mayor Tobin, the Boston Port Authority, leaders of the International Longshoremen's Ass'n here and representatives of waterfront and transportation concerns.

The reported loss of business would be the second setback to this port within 24 hours. The Maritime Commission has taken over ships of 5000 tons and over, which amounts to terminating water shipments to Gulf and West Coast ports.

Lines expected to suspend operations shortly are the American Hawaiian, Luckenbach, Ishmian and American President Lines services to Pacific ports and Pan-Atlantic Lines sailings to Gulf ports. The last named has already announced it will discontinue its sailing schedule effective Feb. 17.

Still in doubt is the status of the Savannah Line. Officials of the Ocean Steamship Company, operators of the line to New York and Savannah, said they have not yet received any orders to change their schedule as a result of the Commission's announcement. This is the only domestic line remaining to service this port.

DEFENSE WORKERS FIRST IN NEW FEDERAL PROJECTS

Because of increasing demands by defense workers for homes within reach of mass transportation facilities, resulting from the ban on car and the sales, all three federal housing projects now under construction will be used for families of war workers and enlisted personnel in the armed forces.

This ruling was announced by John A. Breen, Boston Housing Authority chairman, after conference with U. S. Housing officials, the co-ordinator of defense housing and the state board of housing.

Families now living in completed projects will not be affected, it was explained, but quarters in new mass dwellings being built at Heath st. and Orchard Park section of Roxbury and in East Boston will go to defense workers.

Employees in defense factories who now live more than 10 miles from their work will be given first choice, Breen said. Next will come families forced at present to "double up" or occupying quarters not intended for family use.

MRS. ROOSEVELT SAYS: Exclusive

Workers Volunteer

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT
National Woman Director of Civilian Defense

WASHINGTON, THURSDAY—Mr. McVyn Douglas arrived yesterday morning to stay with us for a few days, and I was so glad to see him. There is something that is warming about the personality of certain people, and both Mr. Douglas and his wife have that quality of outgoing affection. I am sure it makes all their friends think of them often when they are away and greet them with open arms when they meet. I only wish that Mrs. Douglas were here, too.

I had the nine regional people, who work under Miss Wilmer Shields in OCD, come to see me yesterday afternoon at the White House. These particular staff members have been helping to establish volunteer offices under the Local Defense Councils in their areas. They cover a tremendous number of states in certain regions and travel endlessly with never enough time anywhere.

In spite of this, they told me such inspiring stories of the way volunteers are accepting responsibility and really running business-like volunteer offices, with no paid nor professional personnel. They are finding opportunities for training volunteers, discovering places where they can be useful, and really stimulating all the people of their communities to take a hand in defense work. In the evening, we had a group of friends to dinner, and were shown the latest newsmagazines and a very thrilling Errol Flynn movie called "They Died With Their Boots On."

It is the story of Gen. George Armstrong Custer. What a personality he must have been! He was full of life and courage, a daredevil, always in trouble and had plenty of faults and foibles. But he made enemies of the people who should have been enemies, and was adored and followed to the death by his cavalymen. He lived in a colorful period, which allowed for the development of just the qualities which he had. In another way, we are living through the same kind of period at the moment, and perhaps we shall also develop some Gen. Custers. We have made a good beginning, I think, in some of the things which have happened in the battle of Manila and Pearl Harbor. A busy morning at the office. Mr. Y. Frank Freeman came to lunch. He is here from Hollywood to work out some plans with the Treasury Department and with Mr. Lowell Mellett. Another instance of how much people want to help.

Million Greek Young Starving

BERN, Switzerland, Jan. 23 (AP)—One million children in the war-stricken Greece are facing famine and death because their country is unable to draw on its neighbors as in normal times and is occupied by an Axis army already hard-pressed to provide itself with supplies, the Tribune de Geneve reported. The newspaper declared that Rumania which formerly was "legendarily rich now knows the bread card; Yugoslavia's economic unity has been smashed; Bulgaria, which now has become a major manufacturing point for troops in the Balkans also is concerned. Only Turkey endeavors to help the suffering of her ancient ally, but is restrained because she must count on the possibility of serious surprises."

their bombs have been officially credited with killing 428 persons and wounding 1049.

(A military commentator in London said the Japanese infiltrations eastward from the Batu Pahat area likely meant an attempt at a pincer movement to join with other Japanese forces seeking to press the British back in the central sector. He added the British positions appeared relatively unchanged, with the heaviest fighting under way in the Batu Pahat sector.)

Based on the official British report today, the front ranging from 60 to 70 or more miles above Singapore, shaped up roughly as follows:

From the western anchor around Batu Pahat eastward to the Chah area in the center, about 70 miles north of Singapore and some 25 miles northwest of Kulang; thence northeastward to the Mering area on the eastern coast, 65 miles north of Singapore.

JAPS FACE JUNGLE

Australians have studied every bit of the ground in the area between Mering and Endau, 25 miles to the north of Mering, and the Japanese push down the coast brought these forces into play. To the west of Mering lies a dense jungle through which correspondents at the front said the enemy would be forced to hack his way.

On the central front in the Chah area, forward elements were in contact with the Japanese and fighting was in progress.

The Japanese were said to have stepped up their activity in the Batu Pahat section—and there the main battle was joined.

The force which attacked Singapore yesterday consisted of about 54 heavy bombers, escorted by fighters. The British said their fighters shot down six Japanese aircraft "for certain and two probably," damaging a number of others.

Japs Urge China Accept Peace Terms

Enemy Report

(The following dispatch indicates a Japanese peace offensive has been launched to detach China from the lineup of the United Nations.—Editors note.)

TOKYO, Jan. 23 (Official broadcast recorded by AP).—Addressing Parliament this afternoon Premier General Hideki Tojo reiterated Japanese willingness to accept any Chungking overtures for peaceful reconciliation if that regime changes its attitude.

He declared that although Japan has been fighting Chungking for five years, she still regards China as a sister nation and has not changed her mind about receiving Chungking with open arms if she rectifies her mistaken ideas.

"Japan is chastising a spoiled child who was pampered by Anglo-America," the premier stated. He asserted past faults in China would vanish with the disappearance of Anglo-American influence. "Now is the time for China's leaders to awaken and I take this occasion to urge them to do so."

REDS PRESS AHEAD 6 TO 7 MILES A DAY

MOSCOW, Jan. 23 (AP).—Russians pursuing the German forces in flight from the Moshaisk salient before Moscow have pushed 23 miles west of Moshaisk, establishing a rate of advance of from six to seven miles a day since Moshaisk was taken.

The Red army was repeating, in many localities, the triumphs their forebears scored against Napoleon in 1812.

Pravda, Moscow newspaper, said the Germans in abandoning Moshaisk, 57 miles west of Moscow, left extensive strategic plans in their haste to get away. Many mines were found under important buildings, still unexploded.

Front dispatches said while there was alarm and confusion in the ranks of the retreating forces the Germans were still fighting stubbornly in many sectors.

At Borodino, a dozen miles west of Moshaisk, it was said, the Nazis burned the famous Napoleonic museum, destroying relics of the battle which Napoleon fought there.

WARNS AUSSIES OF PERIL

Forde declared Australia was facing "the most serious threat in her history," but said that with the help of her Allies "we will clear the seas and land of the Japanese menace."

Thus the war was brought to territory lying at its nearest point only 100 miles from the Australian mainland, and a new link was forged in the chain of Japanese Pacific bases stretching south and east for 2500 miles from Tokyo to the Solomon island group.

Outlined as sharply as the threat to Australia herself, however, was the new danger to the United Nations' supply lines for the Netherlands East Indies, Singapore and Burma.

From bases on New Guinea and in the 750-mile long Solomon chain to the east the Japanese could command the Torres strait between Australia and New Guinea and force Allied shipping into a costly 3000-mile detour south of the Australian mainland.

RAIDS "SOFTEN UP" ISLES

The landings followed the pattern of other Japanese invasions, for they were preceded by days of concentrated air raids which culminated yesterday in attacks ranging from Rabaul east to Tulagi on Florida island in the So'omons.

The Australian communique announcing the landings said:

"During today Japanese landings have been reported in New Guinea and the Solomon Islands areas."

"This morning active Japanese air reconnaissance was made over widely dispersed points in these areas."

"There are no reports of any damage."

a policy of continuous assaults, without regard to casualties, hoping to be great superiority in numbers to crush the defending forces."

U. S. SPEEDS AID

Japan is moving to capture Manila bay at any cost, military experts agreed.

Qualified tacticians explained that capture of Manila port facilities would be vital to insure success for Japan's offensive against possessions of the ABCD nations in the Orient.

A steady stream of American reinforcements for the southwestern Pacific has already been started, it was revealed by a high U. S. official, and for this reason it is imperative that Japan capture the whole of the Philippines quickly before the might of this new material is felt.

DELAY IS JAP PERIL

The island invaders cannot afford further delay, according to experts, because the increasing might of the U. S. air arm already has endangered Japanese preliminary gains.

This fact, experts concluded, has forced Gen. Homma into his frenzied frontal assault upon the Batan defenses which stand as a barrier to Jap control of Manila bay.

The bay, tacticians said, now is of paramount importance to speedy continuation of the Japanese campaign against the Netherlands and even Singapore. It offers the most desirable base of operations.

Two formidable obstacles staunchly stood between Gen. Homma and his objective—Gen. MacArthur's valiant soldiers and the Corregidor fortress.

Experts predicted Corregidor would be subjected to a continuous barrage if MacArthur's thin line finally crumbled.

Suicide Dive By RAF Pilot

LONDON, Jan. 23 (AP).—A British pilot's suicide dive into a Japanese landing craft in which 60 Japanese were wiped out during the beginning of the conflict on Malaya was reported today by the air ministry.

The air ministry's news service said the incident occurred during Japanese landings at Kota Bharu.

The British plane was damaged, the account said, and the pilot deliberately turned and dived it into one of the landing craft.

Beauty

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL—War-time work means extra hand-care . . . says a hand beauty authority . . . and today Arline Gould tells of a special buy available on a 24-hour treatment to keep your hands COMFORTABLY as well as beautifully soft.

DOUBLE DUTY HANDS REQUIRE DOUBLE CARE

By ARLINE GOULD

FOR DOUBLE DUTY hands . . . double duty care is scheduled . . . and a famous hand authority assures us that two types of preparation for one pair of hands should be the rule! A lotion and a cream do a better job together, by far, than either of them does by itself.

This idea develops into a 24 hour safeguard for the good looks of your hands . . . and not only their good looks but their comfort . . . for chapped hands lead to distressing raw spots or cracking. And these days you go right on with the outdoor phase of your defense work . . . chapped hands or no!

Lots of girls are carrying special, very "concentrated" kits as handbags these days . . . and whereas in the summer they carried a bottle of cologne, now a bottle of a certain very fine "gardenia hand lotion" is included. Naturally, it is applied first thing in the morning before going out. And it's important to have it with you.

The "gardenia hand lotion" is famous for the rich "feel" it gives the hands, and the marvelous scent.

As for the night half of the treatment, that's given over to a special cream called a "hand smoother and softener." It is rich, thick and contains finely blended oils. Leave it on overnight . . . and you'll find it not the least bit uncomfortable, now your bedroom is so cold, to wear mitties over it. If you can't always keep it on overnight, ten minutes to a half an hour "soaking" for your hands in the rich oils of the cream shouldn't be foregone.

Another good thought is to use the "night" hand cream on your legs and feet . . . to keep them smooth and free of goose-pimple texture.

You'll be delighted to know that you may buy this "night and day" pair of lotion and cream on a special . . . $1.25 for the two, instead of $1 apiece.

For further information, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4900, except the week-end, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

NEWS FOR MODERN WOMEN

FOOD

By Martha Lee

JANUARY IS THE MONTH for resolutions and biscuits with the breakfast bacon, and though your resolves may be dissolved by this time, there's still time to better your biscuits for 1942.

If buoyant biscuits are your need, try lard as the shortening and knead the biscuit dough lightly. Lard, being 100 per cent fat, is a good shortening, is easy on the budget and contains what scientists call unsaturated fat acids essential for good nutrition. If crusty biscuits are what you want, place them an inch apart before going into the oven. If soft and moist is the way you like your upper crust, place them close together on the baking pan. If your biscuits are going to a party, cut them and cover them with wax paper on the baking pan and pop them, pans and all, into the refrigerator; then while you're dressing, they can be baking.

But your biscuits are just the beginning of the delicious doings that can be done with your batter. Coffee cakes, shortcakes, cobblers and fruit rolls owe their all to biscuit dough.

BAKING POWDER BISCUITS

2 cups all-purpose flour
4 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
½ cup lard
2-3 to ¾ cup milk
Sift flour onto paper and measure 2 cups into sifter. Measure salt and baking powder into flour and resift into mixing bowl. Cut lard to measure and add to flour. With 2 knives held upright in the hands, or with pastry blender, cut the lard into the flour until the mixture looks like very coarse corn meal. With knife stir in the milk, adding nearly all of it at once and stirring back and forth quickly to dampen the flour, but not to make a smooth dough. Add inch thickness and cut with floured biscuit cutter. Bake on ungreased baking sheet for 12 to 15 minutes in 425 deg. F. oven. Makes 1 dozen small biscuits.

CHEESE BISCUITS

Add ¼ cup grated American cheese to the dry ingredients just before milk is added. Good with luncheon dishes!

PEANUT BUTTER BISCUITS

Blend ½ cup peanut butter in with the lard in standard recipe. Good with luncheon dishes and salads!

ORANGE TEA BISCUITS

Dip one square cube of sugar into orange juice and press into center of each small biscuit before baking.

WHEELS

Pat dough to ¼ inch thickness, spread with butter and sprinkle liberally with sugar and cinnamon. Roll like jelly roll, out in ¼ inch pieces and bake like regular biscuits.

SHORTCAKE

Add 2 tablespoons sugar to flour and add 2 tablespoons butter to be blended with the lard. Bake in biscuits, break open and fill with crushed, sweetened fruits.

CHERRY ROLL

Pat biscuit dough to ¼ inch thickness. Cover with fruit from No. 2 can red sour cherries, sweetened and thickened with ½ cup sugar and 3½ tablespoons cornstarch mixed. Save thickened juice for sauce. Roll dough up like roll and bake in 1 piece at 450 deg. F. for 10 to 15 minutes. Cut slices and serve with thickened juice as sauce.

THERE'S STILL time to better your biscuits for 1942.

enough milk to make a dough sticky to the touch. Turn out onto well floured board or canvas, sprinkle lightly with flour and quickly and lightly knead the dough not over ½ minute. Now pat (do not roll) dough to ¼

Today's Food Bargains

Thrifty food shoppers in the Boston area will find the best buys in fresh vegetables and fruits this week-end are turnips, parsnips, squash, cabbage, lettuce and spinach, and grapefruit, apples and oranges, according to the Regional Information Office, OEM, 17 Court st.

That is the advice from the consumer division of the Office of Price Administration, based on information from Army quarter-master market centers and the OPM division of purchases.

There is a plentiful supply of turnips at cheap prices and Texas and Florida grapefruit are likewise cheap and in heavy supply. Reasonable prices prevail for home-grown apples, parsnips and squash, and their qualities are good.

GUESS WHICH hats thrill the editorial heart more than any other . . . and particularly when January has a good grip on everything and everybody! That's right, flower hats. Madame Pauline has a winsome way with these little numbers, as her recent collection showed. She draped them with spun sugar veils . . . and here is one of the most beguiling of all. Blue lilacs and sweetheart roses are massed up front . . . and pale blue veiling is airy as a cloud over all. An unusual touch is the clip of pink sea shells which holds the veiling in place at the neckline of a dress.—ANNICE BRINK.

PRIDE IN APPEARANCE BOLSTERS WAR MORALE

By BETTINA BEDWELL

I HAVE observed that there seems to be some confusion among women I meet about what attitude they ought to take toward fashionable clothes. What a few months ago was the aim of a vast number of our style-conscious ladies, seems to them today to be in questionable taste.

Maybe Webster's definition of "fashionable" would help to set them straight. The word means, first: "Conforming to the custom, fashion, or established mode." That's pretty simple, and nobody is going to be criticized for dressing in the established mode.

It will not be in questionable taste at any time to look fresh and well dressed. What the grimness of the times calls for is to snub the bizarre, the freakish and the ultra extravagant in what you wear.

I think that right now is the time for all of us to try our darndest to look our best all the time. We need all the pride of appearance we can muster.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

THE HARRY B. LITTLES of Concord and the Franklin Reeces of Chestnut Hill are waiting momentarily for cables from their bride-daughters in Panama saying they will have to be separated from their ensign husbands and come home to Boston for the duration . . .

Both the girls, Mrs. Corning Kenly (Mimi Little) and Mrs. Philip Loring Reed, Jr. (Betty Reece) exercised their ingenuity in obtaining jobs in the government censor's office when all the other Navy wives were being evacuated . . . and by so doing were assisting in the Panama defense machinery and permitted to stay longer . . . Now it's only a matter for conjecture as to how long they will be allowed to remain . . .

Like the young Reeces, who were married in Panama last November, the Kenlys have an attractive apartment in a spic and span new building and aside from the uncertainties of wartime all four are enjoying life in the tropics . . . Mimi is more of an old hand at housekeeping in a strange land, having gone down to join her bridegroom early last August . . .

"FIGHTING FRONTS" will be the absorbing topic of discussion at tomorrow's Foreign Policy luncheon at the Copley-Plaza, when Ralph Ingersoll and Prof. Sidney E. Fay will be the principal speakers . . . Mayo Adams Shattuck will be master of ceremonies, and during the proceedings his wife and Mrs. Fay will share a table facing the speakers . . .

AS THE BRIDE of Lt. Benjamin S. Blake, Jr., of Weston, Mimi Blake will embark upon her house-keeping career out in Oklahoma, not far from Fort Still, where her bridegroom is ordered to report next week at the Field Artillery School . . .

The couple's wedding takes place this afternoon at St. Paul's Church in Dedham and, like most wartime nuptials, is marked by utmost simplicity . . . Having planned the wedding in four days, Mimi is doubly lucky in having her sister's wedding gown and her mother's heirloom veil of Brussels lace all ready for her Big Day . . .

Completing her bridal costume is an heirloom ivory prayer book which she is carrying in place of flowers. Eight-year-old Polly Harding, daughter of the Francis A. Hardings of Dedham, is wearing a picturesque little frock of rose velvet with a wreath of gold flowers and carrying a gold basket filled with rosebuds for her role as flower girl . . .

The other attendants are Mrs. Thomas Bittenbender (Leslie Blake), sister of the bride, and Joan Blake, sister of the groom . . . Their gowns of gray velvet are enhanced with gold slippers and necklaces and wreaths and bouquets of small gold leaves . . .

Mimi and her parents were thrilled yesterday to receive a wire from Arthur Blake, Jr., saying he had been able to obtain leave for the wedding . . . so he can take his place as an usher together with Andrew Oliver, brother-in-law of the groom. Parkman D. Howe, Jr., Ensign Henry Lyman and Walter Hunnewell, Jr. . . . Francis A. Blake is best man for his brother . . .

TWO BOSTON BRIDES who are at Panama with their Navy husbands are (left) Mrs. Philip Loring Reed, Jr. (Betty Reece) of Chestnut Hill, and (right) Mrs. Corning Kenly (Mimi Little) of Concord. Both have taken government jobs with the hopes of being permitted to remain with their bridegrooms.

Listen, World!

LIBERTY'S PRICE

By Elsie Robinson

GRAY, sleet-slashed sky. Stripped trees above scarred earth. Striding across it, in his mud-stained rags, a tall, gaunt man with bitter, brooding eyes. At his heels a file of limping, half-starved wrecks that, two years since, were men.

What price the glory of war? There it was, plain for any fool to read. Frozen flesh, shattered bone, knowing belly for those that survived—writhing death and nameless graves for those who dropped behind. And all for what?

That was the worst of it, he said to himself. What had it profited anyone—this ghastly conflict? A handful of weak colonists rebelling against the arrogant injustice of England—it had seemed a gallant adventure at first, justifying any price a man might have to pay.

But now? Who would care—or even know—in the years to come, that a man named George Washington had led such a revolt, or that other men and women had starved, wept their eyes out, drained their veins, that America might go free?

What did anyone care even now? At this very moment those who had called themselves his friends were planning a separate and shameful peace with the British. He had been spared nothing—no anguish of body or soul. And for what? Liberty? Out of his desperate heart he cried:

"This liberty will look easy by and by, when nobody else dies to get it."

YET, even as he said it, he prepared to go on—went limping out to buy, with tears and sweat and blood and death rattle, that liberty which now comes to us wrapped in cellophane.

Hard times? Too cruelly hard for man? But have you ever thought of the hard times they faced—those men who built this nation?

Nor need you go back to Washington. Touch any convenience that serves your life today. The lump of coal that warms you, the cloth that covers you. Using that coal or cloth, do you remember a gasping man, laboring in the steaming darkness of a mine, a rickety child watching with dulled and aged eyes the mundering loom?

and cover? What do you owe them in return?

THESE are the least of your debts. Not only all that you have, but all that you ARE, was bought for you at a great price. Each decent thought, each brave impulse, which you consider to be your own intimate achievement, was handed down a long, dark trail by hands now dead and forgotten.

Never a strand of character that is not salt with the sweat and tears, dark with the blood, of those who strived against savage darkness that today you might have light.

Therein lies civilization. Not in the things we own—money or land—but in that flickering torch which passes from hand to hand. Hourly we take that torch—use it . . . then hand it on. Or do we?

Dillinghams Honeymoon Trip to California

MR. AND MRS. Gaylor Dillingham, whose recent wedding in New York was attended by a fashionable group of Bostonians, have left for a honeymoon trip to California.

The bride is the former Constance Shepard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger B. Shepard of St. Paul and New York. She graduated from Foxcroft School and attended Sarah Lawrence.

Mr. Dillingham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Francis Dillingham of Honolulu, graduated in 1940 from Harvard where he was prominent in undergraduate sports and social activities. Boston attendants at the wedding included R. Bennett Forbes, Torby Macdonald, and Ensigns Henry E. Russell and Helton H. Wood.

A SURE SIGN that spring is just around the corner is the first news of the Metropolitan Opera's spring engagement in the Hub . . . Thursday, March 19, will be the opening night and the performances will continue through March 28 . . .

Once again the opera will be presented downtown—at the Metropolitan Theater instead of the Boston Opera House . . . The Boston Opera Ass'n announces today the list of hundreds of music lovers who serve as guarantors for the opera, and from A to Z the list contains the names of many prominent citizens in the social, cultural and civic life of the city . . . such as Mr. and Mrs. John Mosley Abbot, former Governor and Mrs. Frank G. Allen, Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, Mr. Robert Cutler, Mrs. Hugh Bancroft, Mrs. Edward Bigelow.

Boswell, Gray Top New RKO-Boston Bill

Glen Gray and his Casa Loma orchestra and Connie Boswell, radio's outstanding song personality, head the RKO Boston Theater's current stage show. On the screen, the special first-run attraction is "Call Out the Marines," starring Victor McLingen and Edmund Lowe.

Formerly, of the popular sister trio known as the Boswell Sisters, Connie started on her own when marriage broke up the group. Since then she has become the nation's undisputed first feminine vocalist. Her vibrant voice has made her a favorite with recording fans as well.

To the tune of their well known theme "Smoke Rings," Glen Gray and his orchestra, arrive here after successful appearances in hotels and night clubs throughout the country. Bordering on the hot side, this famous aggregation offers many distinctive solos and intricate arrangements. Pee Wee Hunt, trombonist, in a pleasing voice sings comic songs. Kenny Sargent handles the romantic vocals and virtually thrills audiences. Sid Tomack and the Reis Brothers, comedy team, and Sunny Rice, dancing star, complete this star-studded stage bill.

"Call Out the Marines" brings together the comedy stars of "What Price Glory" and "The Cockeyed World" with all the upsurge of the lighter side of service life. Five hit songs brighten the story, and Binnie Barnes, Dorothy Lovett, Paul Kelly and Franklin Pangborn head the supporting cast.

"GIVE—UNITED WAR FUND"

MIDNIGHT HOWARD SHOW

"Torrid Teasers," with Rose LaRose, Duvalda, Mimi Lynn, Harry J. Conley, Low Black and a large supporting cast, is the stage attraction at tonight's midnight show at the Old Howard.

BARBARA STANWYCK is the object of Henry Fonda's affections in "You Belong to Me," which, with "Twentieth Century," in which the deeply lamented Carole Lombard appeared with John Barrymore, are to be seen on the Tremont screen through tomorrow.

Ballet Theater Repeats 'Bluebeard'

The Ballet Theater will repeat "Bluebeard" tonight at its third performance in Boston Opera House. This is Michel Fokine's tremendously popular new ballet with music by Jacques Offenbach arranged by Antal Dorati. Fokine's "Russian Soldier" will have its world premiere here tonight.

Anton Dolin plays the fascinatingly gruesome Bluebeard; Irina Baronova, his toughest wife; Alicia Markova, an enchanting peasant-girl. Others are Lucia Chase, Dimitri Romanoff, Annabelle Lyon, Yra Lazovsky and George Skibine. "Swan Lake," with Mlle. Markova and Anton Dolin, will open tonight's program.

METROPOLITAN HANGS OUT SRO SIGN FOR O'BRIEN, STURGES COMBINATION

Pair Draw Big Crowds

By PEGGY DOYLE

Next to the memorable teaming of Pat and Mike, the Met's daily doubling of Hollywood's favorite Irishers, Pat O'Brien, on stage, and Preston Sturges' knockout film, "Sullivan's Travels," should be one for the book in the way of history-making combinations.

Yesterday's opening show audience seemed to feel that way about it anyway, and all through the day and evening the Metropolitan played host to S. R. O. audiences.

O'Brien, here from Hollywood for a week of personal appearances at the town's top M. & E. house, had the audience in the palm of his hand from the instant he sounded off with some straight-from-the-shoulder ad libbing. Smart promotion was the punchy screen symposium that preceded his appearance on stage. The film build-up-trenchantly recalled a group of his finest screen portrayals, notably as Notre Dame's great coach in "Knute Rockne—All-American" and as the universally beloved Father Duffy in "The Fighting 69th."

Highspot of the genuinely popular screen star's stage stint was Rockne's locker-room talk to his team, most affecting sequence in the picture that shattered box office records throughout the country. O'Brien's several comealys, accompanied by some nifty Irish jigging, found him in fine voice and the audience in high fettle. Harry James' first-rate band, and a talented crew of featured vocalists and others, rounded out a slick stage show.

"Sullivan's Travels," the Joel McCrea-Veronica Lake co-starring film attraction, should add to the Pres-

A MODERN EVE — Paramount's Veronica Lake has the laugh on her critics in "Sullivan's Travels," the Met's screen feature.

"SULLIVAN'S TRAVELS," Paramount release co-starring Joel McCrea and Veronica Lake. Story, adaptation and direction by Preston Sturges. Produced by Paul Jones. At the Met.

shrewd philosophy — name it, it's there and then it's something else again. Sturges obviously had as much fun making it as you'll have seeing it. He even "guys his own early scripts when he has "Director" McCrea allude to "my picture, "Ants In Your Plants of 1939" and "Hey, Hey, In the Hayloft!"

McCrea, about to direct "Oh, Brother, Where Art Thou?" a hard times saga, sets out in old clothes to get a hobo's eye-view of the world. The erstwhile one-eyed glamour-girl, Veronica Lake, now showing both glims and definite acting talent, tags along. He no like but she has the last syllable. Sturges who wrote, adapted and directed "Sullivan's Travels," breaks up the mileage with the slickest touches and makes the going worth every step of the way.

M'Gee, M'Carthy Partners In 'Look Who's Laughing'

By DON WARD

Those first citizens of Wistful Vista, Fibber McGee and Molly, have Edgar Bergen and his impudent wooden stogie, Charlie McCarthy for their screen partners in the light and bright "Look Who's Laughing," new Paramount and Fenway film attraction.

The McGees are, of course, Jim and Marian Jordan who've had the whole nation chuckling into a reputed 65,000,000 loud speakers with their woes and wise cracks. They're an engaging pair in their film bow, too, and when Fibber's newest invention, "McGee's Wife-saver," reduces the family dinner dishes to bits, you'll be waiting for that "Tain't funny, McGee!"

Young Master McCarthy is in plenty of trouble, along with Fibber. Charlie's off for the Foreign Legion, and a dapper figger, too. And he's plenty cute on his date, frock coat and all. The date, though is definitely a flop, and young Charles goes ga-ga with the aid of a flock of fudge zombies. The story back of the McGees, McCarthy capers in Fibber's fling into politics. In a burst of civic enthusiasm, he decides to put over a big deal to put Wistful Vista up in the big town brackets by getting a plane factory established.

It's Gildersleeve, with his fiendish laugh ("You're a hard man, McGee!") who stands in the way. But with pretty Lucille Ball to pull a clever ruse or two, Fibber turns out to be the big shot after all. Miss Ball is most attractive and radio fans will find their pals Mrs. Upington and Mr. Old Timer on hand.

A lot of talented young people have an exciting time of it in "Down in San Diego," the other feature at the two theaters. Bonita Granville, Boston's Ray MacDonald, Dan Dailey, Jr., and Leo Gorcey are the youthful quartet who get involved with some of Schickelgruber's growling Gestapo. A lop-eared pooch named Spot gets on their trail, too. It's action with the Marines and you'll cheer for the younger generation.

Premier U Saw Quisling in Silk Dress

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Distributed by International News Service

Premier U Saw of Burma is sure a new kind of Quisling to me. He wears a silk dress, has a bass voice and a smile like a kitten drowning in extra heavy cream.

You can't tell whether those Quislings are around or not. We have plenty in silk dresses and high hats. They are liable to travel first class or they may arrive in the country in a bunch of bananas.

The thing to do is to blast them out like stumps on a brand-new farm.

I'll repeat my cure for Quislings: Give 'em the blindfold cigarette test against the wall without the cigarette.

Admiral Tarrant Favors Sports

REAR ADMIRAL W. T. TARRANT, who is in charge of the First Naval District, has written General Manager Walter Brown of the Boston Garden that a continuance of sports is of greatest value in these days, and that the efforts of the head of the North Station sports palace are going far toward maintaining morale at home on a high plane.

Rear Admiral Tarrant made known his attitude toward sports in a letter to Brown in which he thanked the latter for donating the Garden for a performance of the Ice

Follies of 1942 on Feb. 11. The Navy Relief Society will receive all of the receipts of this show as the Ice Follies agreed to give their share of the receipts to this worthy charity.

Rear Admiral Tarrant's letter follows:

Mr. Walter Brown, President
Boston Garden-Arena Corp., Boston, Mass.

Dear Mr. Brown:
Please accept my deep appreciation and gratitude for the kindness which prompted you to make such a handsome contribution to the Navy Relief Society.

On behalf of Mrs. Tarrant, president of the local auxiliary of the Navy Relief Society, and its many other sincere friends, I gladly accept your offer to donate the Boston Garden for the performance of the Ice Follies of 1942 on Wednesday, Feb. 11, 1942. You may be assured that every dollar accruing the fund will be used to the finest possible advantage in assisting enlisted men and their families whenever such assistance is needed.

I would also like to take this occasion to thank you for the many other kindnesses which your organization has rendered the Public Relations Office of the First Naval District.

It is my conviction that a continuance of sports is of greatest value in these days and that your efforts are going far towards maintaining morale at home on a high plane.

Most sincerely,
W. T. TARRANT,
Rear Admiral, U. S. N., Commandant.

Supports President

The position on sports taken by Rear Admiral Tarrant is similar to that of President Roosevelt. In his recent statement in regard to the continuance of baseball, the President emphasized the importance of this sport as a means of helping the public morale. The President called attention to the fact 20,000,000 people attend ball games, and that it was best that 5000 to 6000 older players who are not needed for military service at this time carry on the national pastime.

Persons in position of authority have been preparing the country for a long war. This is another reason why sports are so necessary. They will give the people of the country the needed mental lift for the many sacrifices that are ahead.

The colleges and schools are showing good sense in deciding to increase their athletic programs instead of curtailing them.

President Conant and Athletic Director Bill Bingham of Harvard plan a lengthy sports program for the coming months. They wish every Harvard man to be physically fit when he enters the service of his country.

At the Victory Dinner for the Harvard football team the members of the Crimson squad were all looking forward to the time they would enter service and they were happy they were so well prepared physically and mentally for the test.

Boston College, Boston University, Tufts, Northeastern, Holy Cross, Dartmouth, Brown and the other New England colleges are also planning sports programs which will help in the defense program. They will develop the students physically and at the same time contribute to public morale.

Sports Panic Over

The sports panic is over as a result of the firm stand taken by President Roosevelt on the question of baseball. People hit their stride in war as in everything else.

Walter Brown and the Garden have been co-operative with every service charity. On last Christmas Night the entire receipts of $12,600 from the Ice Capades of 1942 were turned over to the Bundles for Buddies Fund.

The Ice Follies of 1942 will give the Navy Relief Society between $18,000 and $20,000.

Sports will continue to serve.

SUIT CHARGES BUD BAER CRIPPLED FOR LOUIS GO

FREEHOLD, N. J., Jan. 23 (AP)—Suing for $150,000 damages, Jacob (Buddy) Baer has charged in Monmouth County Common Pleas Court that he was crippled as a boxer, perhaps permanently, in an automobile accident which preceded his disastrous bout with Joe Louis Jan. 9.

Howard A. Lawn of Red Bank, counsel for Baer, said today that the suit had been delayed until after the fight rather than jeopardize attendance. Baer was knocked out in the first round of the Navy Relief Fund benefit show at Madison Square Garden.

The bill of complaint, naming Wellington H. Wilkins, Jr., and Wilma H. Wilkins of Tinton Falls as respondents, said the heavy-weight had suffered torn muscles and tendons in the right shoulder area.

TRAINER ASKS $75000

These made normal use of the right arm impossible and caused numbness whenever Baer received an ordinary punch on the head or neck, it is alleged.

Mrs. Wilkins was named as driver of one automobile and Jerry Casale of Oceanport is driver of the one in which Baer rode, when the two machines collided in Eatontown, December 24. Issy Kilins, Baer's trainer, also a passenger, asked $75,000 damages for his injuries. Casale asked $25,000 and Anna Griefenhain of Lakewood, $1,000.

Mrs. Wilkins is suing Baer, Casale and Anna Griefenhain, owner of the second car, for $36,000 as the result of her injuries.

Baer was training at Lakewood for the Louis bout when the accident occurred. Casale was on his camp staff.

PERMANENT HURT FEARED

Baer's bill of complaint quoted Dr. Joseph G. Villapiano, Ashbury Park physician who examined him Dec. 28, as saying the injuries might be permanent, but this was not yet certain.

Lawn said today that Baer had been obliged to turn down a proposed fight with Red Burman of Baltimore in Washington next month because of his injuries.

Olympics May Birds

Boston's streaking Olympians, untried in their last 11 games and centered but once since the start of the 1942 season, will be out to catch their string to an even dozen tonight at the Garden when they tie with the Johnstown Blue Birds for the second time in four nights.

Following tonight's game, the Ice return to the North Station rink tomorrow night for their second game in three days with the Baltimore Orioles.

The Pies returned from their short road trip in which they encountered both Johnstown and Baltimore on successive nights and have hopes of not only lengthening their margin in the Eastern Amateur circuit but also jump ahead in the Boardwalk Cup series in which they opened play last Sunday against River Vale.

24TH THIS YEAR

As the O's enter tonight's fray, they are leading the second-place New York Rovers by eight points.

Harrington announced upon arrival from Baltimore that he plans to start the Jack McGill-Jake Wade-Gerry Dancers line. This wave, with McGill setting the pace is burning up the league.

Against Johnstown Tuesday night, McGill, leading Pies' scorer, hung up the first five goals in the 6-3 triumph over the Birds, and assisted in one of the three tallies against Baltimore the following night.

Hub School Sixes Clash at Garden

All was serene in the camp of the Boston City School Hockey League this morning as the Hub chapter prepared to move into the Boston Garden for its sixth quartet of ice frays this afternoon at 1 o'clock.

East Boston and Charlestown, both teams without a win on its slate, will take first ice. Dorchester and Commerce have second billing. Roxbury Memorial and Mechanics Arts are firing in the third frame, while undefeated Boston Latin meets Trade in the finale.

FRAMINGHAM, WELLESLEY DUEL TOPS ICE CARD

The Bay State Hockey League rolls into its seventh weekly session at the Arena this evening with the first game starting at 7 o'clock. Framingham clashes with Wellesley in the opener. Walpole vs. Needham, Waltham vs. Watertown and B. C. High vs. Quincy complete the card.

The Waltham-Watertown fray merits top billing. Waltham, fastest moving sextet in the league, has its sights set for its third league win. Watertown, tied for first place in the standings with Waltham and B. C. High, may deliver its customary first-round punch and set the "Watch City" kids back on their heels.

B. C. H. BEATEN BY WALTHAM

Waltham, led by center Charlie Butler, has been untouchable for the past few weeks. After losing a collar-light game to Inter-League Watertown, B. C. High, 6 to 2, and followed up with a 4 to 2 verdict over Framingham.

The B. C. High-Quincy melee ranks as second feature. The Eagles, having dropped home games in six starts, are favored to top their South Shore opponents.

Quincy has fielded one of its most impressive squads in years, racking up a slate of four ties and a pair of losses.

YET TO WIN

The Walpole-Needham game looms lopsided in the favor of defending champion, Needham. Although Needham has only one more win to its slate than Walpole, the latter club has folded badly since the loss of Ed Songin and Bob Magnuson.

Framingham and Wellesley are rated in the lower bracket of the loop. Wellesley only caught up to its first win of the campaign last week, humbling Walpole 5 to 3, while Framingham has yet to win a game.

Bruins Lose Cowley; Army Awaits Krauts

DETROIT, Jan. 23.—With Bill Cowley, star center, in the hospital with a possible broken jaw, and all three members of the famous "Kraut" line facing military service in Canada, the dazed Boston Bruins could still look down on the rest of the National Hockey League from their pinnacle on the top today.

But their league leadership, shared with the New York Rangers, was aided not at all when they dropped a game to Detroit's Red Wings by a 4-3 score at the local rink. It was the first time Detroit has turned the trick against the Bruins in 17 games.

League competition, however, is the least of the Bruins' worries at the moment. In Harper Hospital here, Bill Cowley was reported resting comfortably after suffering two possible jaw fractures.

Dr. C. L. Tomsu, Red Wing physician who treated Cowley, said X-rays will tell the story later and determine if the jaw is fractured in either spot. Pending results of the X-ray examination, he was unable to estimate how long Cowley would be out of the line-up.

AWAIT CALL
Cowley was injured in the first period in a collision with Sydney Howe, Red Wing center. Howe lost his balance after the crash and his stick accidentally flew up into Cowley's face.

The military situation was even more serious, with "Porky" Dumart, Milt Schmidt and Bobby Bauer, the "Kraut" line, all in line for duty with the army.

Dumart, the left winger, has already taken his physical examination and has been instructed to be ready for the call to duty.

It was indicated from the announcement, made by a Canadian army spokesman in London, Ontario, that Dumart would be inducted into active duty Feb. 5. The training period is four months, but under existing regulations the men are retained in the army for home defense unless they enlist for duty overseas.

Milt Schmidt, the center, and Right Wing Bobby Bauer are due to take their physical examinations during the day at Kitchener, Ont. It was also indicated in their cases that the call to duty may come within a month.

RECALL MARIO
All three of the "Kraut" line live in Kitchener, which is only 250 miles from Detroit and 65 distant from Toronto. The basic training center to which they would probably report is in their home city and they might all be able to travel to Detroit and Toronto to play with the Bruins at games in those cities.

The first replacement due to bolster up the team is Frank Mario, center on the Hershey club of the American League, a Bruins' farm. Art Ross, the manager, said Mario would be called to replace Cowley. During the training period at Hershey last fall, the young center worked with Roy Conacher and Eddie Wiseman.

As the Bruins packed bags today for their trip to Montreal for Saturday's game before heading for home, it was recalled by team historians that this was the first victory for the lowly Red Wings over Boston since March 3, 1940. They have not turned the trick in Boston since Dec. 7, 1937.

Ulysses Brock's Reputation Wins Berth for Star
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 23 (AP)—When Pvt. Ulysses Brock tried for a position on his squad's basketball team at Jefferson barracks he was told there was no vacancy.

But that was before they discovered he was the Ulysses Brock. Basketball record books list the Finger, Tenn., youth as the highest individual scorer in a single game. Brock—36's a regular now—racked up 33 points in 1940 when Freed-Hardeman won a Mississippi Valley Conference game from Bethel College.

Public Want Horse Racing, Says Swope
MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 23 (AP)—The success of two Florida meetings that began shortly after the outbreak of war demonstrated that the American public wants and needs racing. Chairman Herbert Swope of the New York commission said here today.

"The Tropical Park and Hialeah meetings have enjoyed moderate success even though they followed shortly after the Japanese 'sneak punch' at Pearl Harbor," Swope asserted in an address prepared for delivery to the National Ass'n of State Racing Commissioners.

"When you consider the factors working against the success of these meetings—the temporary loss of betters that affected every one in mid-December, the increase in the Florida tax on wagering and the threat of much more severe rationing than has actually been imposed—I think that the fact that the meetings succeeded it showed clearly that the public wants racing and needs it for recreation."

Swope said the first duty of racing and of all other sports is "to contribute as much as possible to the war program."

"I believe we can say truthfully that racing makes a real contribution to national morale," he added.

"I do not regard the word commercialism in connection with racing as a term of reproach," Swope declared. "It is a sport, but it also is a business—a big business. And racing men have long since learned that to bring to be a good business it must first be a good sport."

He said the general public sometimes received a mistaken impression from reading of big betting totals at the tracks.

Opportunity Knocks

Catchers In Demand

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. 23 (AP)—Harold (Muddy) Ruel, Chicago White Sox battery pitcher, and one-time catcher for the Boston Red Sox, says the high spot behind the bat may prove to be the quickest ticket to the top for players today.

Ruel thinks that baseball soon face a shortage of catchers. The reason, he says, is that few players today just don't seem to want to work hard... and some what catching requires—hard work and practice.

"What's the matter with that today?" he asked. "Don't know that baseball teams still have catchers?"

BOYS SHUN HARNESS
The situation was brought to Ruel's attention at the meeting of a baseball school of which he is head instructor. Nearly all boys reported, but not a line catcher was listed.

"The situation nationally is somewhat the same," the veteran backstop observed. "I've seen young players come up to the majors after a little minor league experience and expect, once they were signed, to sit on the bench until time to play in a game. They don't realize that it takes continued practice."

"I don't believe catching is as hard as it was 10 or more years ago. Today catchers don't have to handle so many pitches—no spitballs, for instance. There isn't quite as much danger to fingers. And there isn't as much work."

FURNISHES OPPORTUNITY
"Take a look at the number of assists of the catchers today, not nearly as many as in the days when there was more base running. Power hitting accounts for that."

Ruel thinks that because of the situation, the catcher's mitt might prove the quickest ticket to the top for a young player.

Purdue Grid Coach Relieved of One Job
LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 23 (INS)—Mal Edward, athletic director and head football coach at Purdue University, will be relieved of the former job but retained as grid mentor, it was announced today.

Under recent alumni fire for disappointing Purdue showings, Edward had his football contract extended to Dec. 31 by the university board of trustees.

IT LEAVES TO COMPETE IN 'Y' MEET

Ed McCarthy, Medford senior, who was a member of last year's crack mile relay team, is one of 14 Boston College trackmen who are entered in the annual YMCA handi-cap meet to be held tomorrow night at the Huntington ave. "Y".

McCarthy, certain to be a member of the Eagle relay team once again this season, is entered in the 600-yard running event.

Capt. Johnny Ballantine, occupied with military studies preparatory to assuming an officers' rank in Uncle Sam's Army, and Bill Riley other members of the mile team, won't compete. Neither had been able to give much time to training.

Jim Kelleher, Lawrence sophomore, Bob Ross, Newton sophomore, and Johnny O'Connor, South Boston junior, who are battling for the post on the mile team vacated by Bill Dowd, graduated co-captain of last year, will also compete.

Kelleher will try his hand in the dash and high hurdles; Ross will go in the 88 and O'Connor will operate in the 600.

Others of Coach Jack Ryder's varsity who will seek honors include Dick Buckley, Frank Harris, Tom Joyce and Angie Sisti.

Freshmen who will compete include John Deane and Dick Kirby in the 600; Ray Sullivan and Joe Kulis in the 300 and dash; Frank Landry in the shotput and Paul Sweeney in the high hurdles and dash. Kulis, a center and Landry, a guard, were first string members of the yearling eleven last fall. Sweeney is a former Regimental champion from English High School.

No Exercise
NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (AP)—Heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis, now an Army private, was asked if he got a chance to exercise at Camp Upton.

"No," replied Joe, who has his own ideas about exercise. "I just drill two hours in the morning and two in the afternoon."

Deadline Near for Big Shoot

All rifle clubs, junior and senior that have not as yet filed entry for the William Randolph Hearst Citizen Marksmanship competition must have its blanks in the mail by midnight, January 30, which is a week from today.

To date, there have been entries from all New England states, except Connecticut, which is shooting with the New York district.

Although only league winners will be eligible for the Hearst shoot next spring, all teams must be entered before the deadline.

FORM OWN LEAGUES
Leagues will be made up of four or more clubs with four or more men on each team, depending upon the rules drawn up by the individual leagues.

Many clubs with 16 gunners are forming four teams within their own organization and then entering all four as a league.

ALL LETTERS ANSWERED
Then, too, letters are still coming in from individuals seeking information as to the name of clubs where membership is open or where instruction is available. These letters are being answered as quickly as the information can be secured. It is hoped that all inquiries will be taken care of within the next few days.

Skiers Need Competition

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Competition improves skiing technique. So believes Karl Acker, Pico Peak pro, who will conduct an advanced slalom school at Pico from Monday, Jan. 26, through Saturday, Jan. 31. A similar course was held by this Swiss stylist at Pico last year. To make it official, the school is sponsored by the U. S. E. A. S. A.

The school is designed for skiers who have thoroughly mastered their fundamentals and preferably some of those who have had some competition experience. Applicants must be individual members of the U. S. E. A. S. A., and should state their club affiliations, address, and give a brief indication of their skiing experience including proficiency tests passed and racing classification, if any. Those planning to attend the school should write to Karl Acker, Pico Peak, Rutland, Vt.

The fee for the course is small and it includes use of the Alpine lift and rope tow during the five-week. Those entering the classes should arrange for their own board and lodging.

Karl Acker is an expert in the art of slalom, and watching him run a tight flush makes it seem as easy as pouring a drink. He was one of the first teachers certified by the Eastern Ass'n and is now one of the examining board.

One of the best features of a slalom class is that it sharpens one's skiing and makes one more alert. With gates placed at certain intervals, the pupil is forced to do some thinking and cannot allow his skis to run away with him and make turns where they will. The various settings and types of gates in a slalom are also explained, this knowledge being of vital importance to anyone who contemplates entering a race.

SKI SCRIBBLINGS: Clayton Welch, president of the Comet Ski Club of Hopedale, Mass., sends word that his organization has just completed its new slope and tow. This hoist services a 500-foot hill, the various angles of descent offering skiing for both novice and intermediate. . . This spot is only 30 miles west of Boston, taking Route 9 on the Boston-Worcester Turnpike to Wellesley Hills, then following Route 16 directly into Hopedale.

Sensational Torger Torkle, national jumping champion, made what may be his last appearance for some time last Sunday when he flew his winged skis to victory at Bear Mountain, New York, for leaps of 148 and 132 feet, beating Ottar Sakre of Salisbury, Ct., in the Class A event by 10 feet on each jump. Torger will be in the United States Army soon, but may be able to get in some skiing at odd moments. He holds almost every major jump record in the country and set the national mark at 288 feet.

B. C. SIX WORKING HARD FOR DARTMOUTH CLASH

Coach John "Snooks" Kelley will send his undefeated, untied, New England Intercollegiate League-leading Boston College hockey squad through another important practice session starting at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the Arena.

The Ralph Powers captained Eagles are preparing for an important game with Dartmouth, to be played one week from next Monday night, Feb. 3, at the Garden. The following night the Chestnut Hill collegians have another important game on the fire, this one a New England League return bout with vastly improved Northeastern.

Satisfied with the makeup of his first six, and his second forward line, Coach Kelley is striving for squad perfection. In Dartmouth, B. C. will meet one of the best college teams in the country—a team which, in Bill Harrison (Walpole), Jack Riley (Medford) and Dick Rondeau (Providence, and Junior Olympics) has probably the best first line performing on college circles this season.

This trio of sophomores has been terrific all season long. B. C. must stop the trio if it hopes to hurdle what may be its biggest barrier to the first undefeated season an Eagle six has enjoyed since hockey was revived at the Heights in 1931.

B. C.'s first line—Capt. Ralph Powers, Wally Boudreau and Nick Flynn—is a capable unit but on the word of unbiased opinion of hockey officials who have worked both B. C. and Dartmouth games the Eagles don't measure up to the overall strength of the Indians. Boudreau, however, compares favorably with Rondeau, who is the best of the young Indians.

B. C.'s second line—Charlie Sullivan, a senior and John "Putto" Murphy and Jim Edgeworth, sophomores—compare favorably with the Dartmouth second line.

Torpedoed Coimbra's Last Moment—The 6768-ton tanker Coimbra, which flew the flag of an Allied nation, slips beneath the waves after falling victim to an enemy submarine off Long Island, about 100 miles east of New York. The Coimbra was the second of six ships attacked off the U. S. coast. The Navy withheld the number of survivors.
